NEWZULU SIGNS AUSTRALIAN MEDIA COMPANY

Newzulu Limited (ASX: NWZ) is pleased to announce that it has signed an agreement (the “Agreement”) with a leading Australian media company in relation to licensing and usage of the Newzulu Platform and Newzulu Live product suite. Newzulu is delighted that the client will be the first major Australian media group to crowd-source photos, videos and live video streams from its audience, allowing anybody with a smartphone and a story to contribute to their leading media assets through Newzulu Platform and Newzulu Live technology. Under the Agreement the client will also provide up to three hundred (300) of its staff reporters with Newzulu Live Reporter Kits on their smartphones, such that they can file live video, post live video and photos direct from their mobile phones into the client’s news services across multiple delivery platforms.

The client has required that both its identity and the terms of the Agreement remain confidential at this stage; however, Newzulu anticipates revenues from licensing and subscription fees for Newzulu Platform and Newzulu Live (Reporter Kits and user-generated content) in the range of approximately A$500,000 to A$1,600,000 per annum. The Agreement may be extended at the end of the rollout, which is yet to be determined.

“Newzulu is delighted to be working with one of Australia’s leading media companies. We are excited by the deployment of our Newzulu Platform and Newzulu Live products to empower reporters with mobile live video technology and by the breaking news stories that will flow from crowd-sourced photos, videos and live video streams from the client’s audience, leveraging their extensive reach across multiple delivery platforms” said Alexander Hartman, Executive Chairman of Newzulu.
