Cautionary Statement

• Dacian Gold has concluded it has a reasonable basis for providing the forward looking statements that relate to the Mt Morgans Feasibility Study and the expansion Pre-Feasibility Study (expansion PFS) that are included in this presentation. The detailed reasons for that conclusion are outlined in ASX announcement dated 21 November 2016, which has been prepared in accordance with the JORC Code (2012) and the ASX Listing Rules. The Company advises that the Production Targets and Forecast Financial Information contained in the Mt Morgans expansion PFS in this announcement are preliminary in nature as the conclusions are based, in part, on low-level technical and economic assessments, and are insufficient to support the estimation of Ore Reserves or to provide an assurance of economic development at this stage. There is a low level of geological confidence associated with Inferred Mineral Resources (comprising 23% of the expansion PFS) used in this report and there is no certainty that further exploration work will result in the determination of Indicated Mineral Resources or that the Production Target itself will be realised. The stated Production Target is based on the Company's current expectations of future results or events and should not be relied upon by investors when making investment decisions. Further evaluation work and appropriate studies are required to establish sufficient confidence that this target will be met.

• The Company confirms that all material assumptions underginging the production target and forecast financial information contained in the Company's ASX announcement released on 21 November 2016 continue to apply and have not materially changed.

Cautionary note regarding reserves and resources

You should be aware that as an Australian company with securities listed on the ASX, the Company is required to report reserves and resources in accordance with the Australasian Code for Reporting of Exploration Results, Mineral Resources and Ore Reserves (JORC Code, 2012 Edition). You should note that while the Company's reserve and resource estimates comply with the JORC Code, they may not comply with the relevant guidelines in other countries and, in particular, do not comply with (i) National Instrument 43-101(Standards of Disclosure for Mineral Projects) of the Canadian Securities Administrators and (ii) Industry Guide 7, which governs disclosures of mineral reserves in registration statements filed with the US Securities and Exchange Commission. Information contained in this presentation describing the Company's mineral deposits may not be comparable to similar information made public by companies subject to the reporting and disclosure requirements of Canadian or US securities laws. In particular, Industry Guide 7 does not recognise classifications other than proven and probable reserves and, as a result, the SEC generally does not permit mining companies to disclose their mineral resources in SEC filings. You should not assume that quantities reported as "resources" will be converted to reserves under the JORC Code or any other reporting regime or that the Company will be able to legally and economically extract them.

Lead Manager Parties Disclaimer

1.1 Introduction

There are a number of factors, both specific to the Company and of a general nature, which may, either individually or in combination, affect the future operation, exploration, development and financial performance and/or financial position of the Company, its prospects, and/or the value of the Shares. Many of the circumstances giving rise to these risks are beyond the control of the Company, the Directors or its management.

Set out below are the areas the Directors regard as the major risks associated with an investment in the Company. There may also be additional risks (including financial and taxation risks) that you should consider in light of your own personal circumstances.

Investment Speculative

The following list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The following factors, and others not specifically referred to below, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the New Shares offered as part of the Offer.

The Offer of New Shares carries no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those New Shares. Potential investors should consider that the investment in the Company is speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to apply for new share offered under the Offer.

1.2 Company specific risk factors

The Directors consider that there are number of risk factors specific to the Company and its circumstances that should be taken into account before a potential investor decides to invest in the Company.

a) Commodity prices

The value of the Company's assets may be affected by fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates, such as the USD and AUD denominated gold prices and the AUD / USD exchange rate.

These prices can fluctuate rapidly and widely, and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Company. These factors include world demand for precious and other metals, forward selling by producers, and production cost levels in major metal-producing regions. Other factors include expectations regarding inflation, the financial impact of movements in interest rates, gold price forward curves, global economic trends, confidence and conditions, and domestic and international fiscal, monetary and regulatory policy settings. Future production from the Company's mineral properties will be dependent upon the Australian gold price being sufficient to make these properties economic.

If the Company achieves exploration/development success which leads to viable mining production, its financial performance will be highly dependent on the prevailing commodity prices and exchange rates.

These factors can affect the value of the Company's assets and the supply and demand characteristics of gold, and may have an adverse effect on the viability of the Company's exploration, development and production activities, its ability to fund those activities and the value of its assets.

b) Capital requirements and debt finance risk

The Company will require additional financial resources to complete the development of the Mt Morgans Gold Project, and any other tenements that it may acquire and also to fund its exploration programs. No assurance can be given that any such additional financing will be available or that, if available, it will be available on terms acceptable to the Company or its Shareholders. If additional funds are raised through the issue of equity securities, the capital raising may be dilutive to Shareholders and such securities may, subject to requisite Shareholder approval, have rights, preferences or privileges senior to those of the holders of the Company's Shares then on issue. Debt finance, if available on terms acceptable to the Company, may involve restrictions on financing and operating activities.

The Company intends to part fund the development and commissioning of the Mt Morgan Gold Project through the proceeds of the Offer to raise up to $150 million. If the Entitlement Offer is not fully subscribed the Company's ability to fund the Mt Morgan Gold Project may be adversely affected. The Company intends to enter into debt financing arrangements to provide debt funding for the part development and commissioning of the Mt Morgan Gold Project, subject to customary terms and conditions. If sufficient funds are not available from either debt or equity markets to satisfy the Company's short, medium or long-term capital requirements, when required, the Company may be required to limit the scope of its anticipated operations, which could adversely impact on its business, financial condition and value of its Shares.

c) Ore Reserve and Mineral Resource Estimates

Ore Reserve and Mineral Resource estimates are expressions of judgement based on knowledge, experience and industry practice. The reported estimates, which were valid when originally estimated, may alter significantly when new information or techniques become available. As the Company obtains new information through additional drilling and analysis, Ore Reserve and Mineral Resource estimates are likely to change. This may result in alterations to the Company's exploration, development and production plans which may, in turn, positively or negatively affect the Company's operations and financial position.

In addition, by their very nature, Ore Reserve and Mineral Resource estimates are imprecise and depend to some extent on interpretations, which may prove to be inaccurate. The Company has reviewed historical drilling results and data produced by previous holders of the Tenements. These results have been utilised in part when formulating the Company's exploration activities. In the event that the historical information proves to be unreliable or inaccurate, the effectiveness of the exploration program may be diminished.

d) Tenure of the Tenements

Interests in tenements in Western Australia are governed by legislation and are evidenced by the granting of leases and licences by the State. The Company is subject to the Mining Act 1978 (WA) and the Company has an obligation to meet conditions that apply to the Tenements, including the payment of rent and prescribed annual expenditure commitments.

The Tenements held by the Company are subject to annual review and periodic renewal.

There are no guarantees that the Tenements that are subject to renewal will be renewed or that any applications for exemption from minimum expenditure conditions will be granted, each of which would adversely affect the standing of a Tenement. A number of the Tenements may be subject to additional conditions, penalties, objections or forfeiture applications in the future. Alternatively, applications, transfers, conversions or renewals may be refused or may not be approved with favourable terms. Any of these events could have a materially adverse effect on the Company's prospects and the value of its assets.

e) Grant of future authorisations to explore and mine

The Company currently holds all material authorisations required to undertake its exploration programs. However, many of the mineral rights and interests held by the Company are subject to the need for ongoing or new Government approvals, licences and permits as the scope of the Company's operations change. The granting and renewal of such approvals, licences and permits are, as a practical matter, subject to the discretion of applicable Government agencies or officials.

If the Company pursues development of an economically viable mineral deposit, it will, among other things, require various approvals, permit and licences before it will be able to mine the deposit, and need to satisfy certain environmental approval processes. There is no guarantee that that Company will be able to obtain, or obtain in a timely fashion, all required approvals, licences or permits or satisfy all environmental approval processes. To the extent that required authorisations are not obtained or are delayed, the Company's operations may be significantly impacted.

f) Exploration and development

The Company intends to continue with an intensive exploration program on the Tenements that comprise the Mount Morgans Gold Project. In the event that the planned drilling programs produce poorer than expected results, the value of the Company's assets and the viability of the Company's future operations may be significantly diminished.

The Tenements are at various stages of exploration, and potential investors should understand that mineral exploration and development are high risk enterprises that only occasionally provide high rewards. Even a combination of experience, knowledge and careful evaluation may not be able to overcome the inherent risk associated with exploring prospective tenements.

There can be no assurance that exploration of the Tenements (or any other tenements that may be acquired in the future), will result in the development of an economically viable deposit of gold or other minerals. In addition to the high average costs of discovery of an economic deposit, factors such as demand for commodities, fluctuating gold prices and exchange rates, limitations on activities due to weather, difficulties encountered with geological structures and technical issues, labour disruptions, problems obtaining project finance, share price movements that affect access to new capital, counterparty risks on contacts, proximity to infrastructure (given the size of the area covered by the Tenements), changing government regulation (including with regard to taxes, royalties, the export of minerals, employment and environmental protection), native title issues and equipment shortages can all affect the ability of a company to profit from any development opportunity.

If a viable mineral deposit(s) is to be developed, the Company will need to apply for a range of environmental and development authorisations which may or may not be granted on satisfactory terms. Even if an apparently viable mineral deposit is identified, there is no guarantee that it can be profitably mined.

The discovery of mineral deposits is dependent on a number of factors, including the technical skill of the exploration personnel involved and the success of the adopted exploration plan. In addition, there can be a time lag between the commencement of of commencement o

The exploration costs of the Company described in the "Use of Funds" are based on certain assumptions with respect to the method and timing of exploration. By their nature, these estimates and assumptions are subject to significant uncertainties and, accordingly, the actual costs may materially differ from these estimates and assumptions. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the cost estimates and the underlying assumptions will be realised in practice, which may materially and adversely affect the Company's viability.

Although the "Use of Proceeds" detailed in the Offer Document sets out the Company's current intentions, the actual expenditure and exploration work undertaken will depend on the results generated. As such, actual expenditure may differ from the budgeted expenditure presented.

g) Native Title and cultural heritage

The effect of the present laws in respect of Native Title that apply in Australia is that the Tenements may be affected by Native Title claims or procedures. This may preclude or delay granting of exploration and mining tenements or the ability of the Company to explore, develop and/or commercialise the resources on the Tenements. Considerable expenses may be incurred negotiating and resolving issues, including any compensation arrangements reached in settling Native title claims lodged over any of the Tenements held or acquired by the Company.

The presence of Aboriginal sacred sites and cultural heritage artefacts on the Tenements is protected by State and Commonwealth laws. Any destruction or harming of such sites and artefacts may result in the Company incurring significant fines and Court injunctions, which may adversely impact on exploration and mining activities. The Company will conduct surveys before conducting exploration work which could disturb the surface of the land. The Tenements currently contain, and may contain additional, sites of cultural significance which will need to be avoided during field programs and any resulting mining operations. The existence of such sites may limit or preclude exploration or mining activities on those sites and delays and expenses may be experienced in obtaining clearances.

h) Mining Risks

When compared with many industrial and commercial operations, mining and mineral processing projects are relatively high risk. This is particularly so where new technologies are employed. Each orebody is unique. The nature of mineralisation, the occurrence and grade of the ore, as well as its behaviour during mining and processing can never be wholly predicted. Estimations of the tonnes, grade and overall mineral content of a deposit are not precise calculations but are based on interpretation and samples from drilling, which, even at close drill hole spacing, represent a very small sample of the entire orebody.

i) Operational risk

The Company's exploration and development activities will be subject to numerous operational risks, many of which are beyond the Company's control. The Company's operations may be curtailed, delayed or cancelled as a result of factors such as adverse weather conditions, mechanical difficulties, shortages in or increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant and equipment, external services failure (such including energy and water supply), industrial disputes and action, difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment, IT system failures, mechanical failure or plant breakdown, and compliance with governmental requirements. Hazards incidental to the exploration and development of mineral properties such as unusual or unexpected geological formations may be encountered by the Company. Industrial and environmental accidents could lead to substantial claims against the Company for injury or loss of life, and damage or destruction to property, as well as regulatory investigations, clean up responsibilities, penalties and the suspension of operations.

The Company will endeavour to take appropriate action to mitigate these operational risks (including by ensuring legislative compliance, properly documenting arrangements with counterparties, and adopting industry best practice policies and procedures) or to insure against them, but the occurrence of any one or a combination of these events may have a material adverse effect on the Company's performance and the value of its assets.

j) Royalties

Each gold mining project operated by the Company will be subject to Western Australian royalties. If State royalties rise, the profitability and commercial viability of the Company's projects may be negatively impacted.

k) Environment

The operations and proposed activities of the Company are subject to State and Commonwealth laws and regulations concerning the environment. If such laws are breached, the Company could be required to cease its operations and/or incur significant liabilities including penalties, due to past or future activities.

As with most exploration projects and mining operations, the Company's activities are expected to have an impact on the environment, particularly if advanced exploration or mine development proceeds. It is the Company's intention to conduct its activities to the highest standard of environmental obligation, including in compliance in all material respects with relevant environmental laws. Nevertheless, there are certain risks inherent in the Company's activities which could subject the Company to extensive liability.

Further, the Company may require approval from relevant authorities before it can undertake activities that are likely to impact the environment. Failure to obtain such approvals could prevent the Company from undertaking its desired activities.

The cost and complexity in complying with the applicable environmental laws and regulations may affect the viability of potential developments of the Company's projects, and consequently the value of those projects, and the value of the Company's assets.

I) Dependence on key personnel

The Company is dependent on the experience of its Directors and Executive Chairman. Whilst the Board has sought to and will continue to ensure that Executive Directors and any key employees are appropriately incentivised, their services cannot be guaranteed. Although the Executive Chairman, Mr Rohan Williams, is retained under an Executive Services Agreement (there can be no assurance that his services will continue to be available to the Company on an indefinite basis). The loss of Mr Williams or the other Directors' services to the Company may have an adverse effect on the performance of the Company pending replacements being identified and retained by or appointed to the Board of the Company.

As the Company grows, it will need to employ and retain appropriately motivated, skilled and experienced staff. Difficulties in attracting and retaining such staff may have an adverse effect on the performance of the Company.

m) Dependence on external contractors

The Company intends to outsource substantial parts of its exploration activities pursuant to services contracts with third party contractors. Such contractors may not be available to perform services for the Company, when required, or may only be willing to do so on terms that are not acceptable to the Company. Once in contract, performance may be constrained or hampered by labour disputes, plant, equipment and staff shortages, and default. Contractors may not comply with provisions in respect of quality, safety, environmental compliance and timeliness, which may be difficult to control. In the event that a contractor underperforms or is terminated, the Company may not be able to find a suitable replacement on satisfactory terms within time or at all. These circumstances could have a material adverse effect on the Company's operations and give rise to claims against the Company.

1.3 General risk factors

The Directors also consider that potential investors should be aware of the following general risk factors.

a) Economic conditions

Changes in the general economic climate in which the Company operates may adversely affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of its assets. Factors which contribute to that general economic climate include:

- . contractions in the world economy or increases in rates of inflation resulting from domestic or international conditions (including movements in domestic interest rates and reduced economic activity):
- international currency fluctuations and changes in interest rates:
- iii. changes in investor attitudes towards particular market sectors;
- iv. the demand for and supply of capital and finance:
- v. changes in government legislation and regulatory policy, including with regard to rates and types of taxation; and
- vi. domestic and international economic and political conditions.

b) Market conditions

There are a number of risks associated with any stock market investment. Factors affecting the price at which the Shares are traded on the ASX may be unrelated to the Company's operating and financial performance and beyond the control of the Directors. As such, Shares offered under this Offer may trade at prices above or below the Offer Price or the net asset value of the Company per Share.

c) Insurance

The Company intends to ensure that insurance is maintained to address insurable risks within ranges of coverage the Company believes to be consistent with industry practice, having regard to the nature of the Company's activities. However, no assurance can be given that the Company will be able to obtain insurance cover for all risks faced by the Company at reasonable rates or that the insurance cover it arranges will be adequate and available to cover all possible claims. The occurrence of an event that is not covered or fully covered by insurance could have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition and results of the Company.

d) Liquidity and realisation risk

There can be no guarantee that an active market in the Shares will develop or continue, or that the market price of the Shares will increase. If a market does not develop or is not sustained, it may be difficult for investors to sell their Shares, as there may be relative few, if any, potential buyers or sellers of the Shares on ASX at any time. Volatility in the market price for Shares may result in Shareholders receiving a price for their Shares that is less or more than the Offer Price.

Changes in law, government policy and accounting standards

The Company's activities may be impacted by regulatory or other changes implemented by the Commonwealth or Western Australian Governments. A change in laws that impact on the Company's operations, such as land access, Native Title, environmental protection, carbon emissions, labour, mining, taxation and royalties, could have an adverse impact on the Company's operations. Mining industry activities are subject to discretionary regulations and approvals, the exercise of which cannot always be predicted.

Changes in accounting standards or the interpretation of those accounting standards that occur after the date of this presentation may impact adversely on the Company's reported financial performance.

f) Other general risks

The future viability of and profitability of the Company is also dependent on a number of other factors which affect the performance of all industries, and not just mineral exploration and mining. These include, but are not limited to:

- i. default by a party to any contract to which the Company is, or may become, a party;
- ii. insolvency or other managerial failure by any of the contractors used by the Company in its activities;
- iii. industrial disputation by the Company's workforce or that of its contractors;
- iv. litigation;
- v. natural disasters and extreme weather conditions; and
- vi. acts of war and terrorism or the outbreak or escalation of international hostilities and tensions.

Statutory rights of action for damages and rescission

Securities legislation in certain of the Provinces may provide purchasers with, in addition to any other rights they may have at law, rights of rescission or to damages, or both, when an offering memorandum that is delivered to purchasers contains a misrepresentation. These rights and remedies must be exercised within prescribed time limits and are subject to the defenses contained in applicable securities legislation. Prospective purchasers should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of their respective Province for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser.

The following is a summary of the statutory rights of rescission or to damages, or both, available to purchasers in Ontario. In Ontario, every purchaser of the New Shares purchased pursuant to this document (other than (a) a "Canadian financial institution" or a "Schedule III bank" (each as defined in NI 45-106), (b) the Business Development Bank of Canada or (c) a subsidiary of any person referred to in (a) or (b) above, if the person owns all the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by the directors of that subsidiary) shall have a statutory right of action for damages and/or rescission against the Company if this document or any amendment thereto contains a misrepresentation. If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the Company. This right of action for rescission or damages is in addition to and without derogation from any other right the purchaser may have at law. In particular, Section 130.1 of the Securities Act (Ontain) provides that, if this document contains a misrepresentation if it was a misrepresentation at the time of purchase and has a right of action for damages or, alternatively, may elect to exercise a right of rescission against the Company, provided that (a) the Company will not be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the New Shares with knowledge of the misrepresentation; (b) in an action for damages, the Company is not liable for all or any portion of the damages that the Company proves does not represent the depreciation in value of the New Shares as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon; and (c) in no case shall the amount recoverable exceed the price at which the New Shares were offered.

Section 138 of the Securities Act (Ontario) provides that no action shall be commenced to enforce these rights more than (a) in the case of any action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action or (b) in the case of any action, other than an action for rescission, the earlier of (i) 180 days after the purchaser first had knowledge of the fact giving rise to the cause of action or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action. These rights are in addition to and not in derogation from any other right the purchaser may have.

Certain Canadian income tax considerations. Prospective purchasers of the New Shares should consult their own tax adviser with respect to any taxes payable in connection with the acquisition, holding or disposition of the New Shares as any discussion of taxation related matters in this document is not a comprehensive description and there are a number of substantive Canadian tax compliance requirements for investors in the Provinces.

Language of documents in Canada. Upon receipt of this document, each investor in Canada hereby confirms that it has expressly requested that all documents evidencing or relating in any way to the sale of the New Shares (including for greater certainty any purchase confirmation or any notice) be drawn up in the English language only. Par la réception de ce document, chaque investisseur canadien confirme par les présentes qu'il a expressément exigé que tous les documents faisant foi ou se rapportant de guelque manière que ce soit à la vente des valeurs mobilières décrites aux présentes (incluant, pour plus de certitude, toute confirmation d'achat ou tout avis) soient rédigés en anglais seulement.
