

Bigtincan Announces acquisition of Israel based Contondo

Acquisition to strengthen Bigtincan's investments and leadership in AI-powered Sales Enablement Automation and expand future capabilities of the Bigtincan Hub Platform

BOSTON, Mass. – November 22, 2017 – Bigtincan, the leader in mobile, AI-powered sales enablement automation, today announced the acquisition of Israel based Contondo Inc.

Contondo's sales enablement automation tools focus on discovery and classification of available sales and service content, while enhancing measurement and improving ROI. Contondo's data science team and innovative core technology ensure additional capabilities to the Bigtincan Hub Sales Enablement Automation Platform and further strengthen Bigtincan's leadership in the market.

"Contondo has created a powerful ontology using advanced data science to classify available content, as well as analyze alignment between content and pipeline to illuminate value" said Aviv Ben Zeev, Contondo Co-founder and CEO.

According to Gartner, digital sales content management applications are a class of sales enablement systems that encompass repositories, authoring tools, collaborative environments, and interfaces for publishing, versioning, and presenting sales collateral. Most solutions provide a dedicated application, where sales presentations can be accessed, shared and emailed to contacts and leads. Some are optimized for tablet form factors and some can be used for data collection, like credit applications.¹

"Bigtincan sees specialised technology acquisitions like Contondo as a key strategy to accelerating our global business and further developing our SalesAI technology suite", said David Keane, Co-founder and CEO of Bigtincan. "The data science team at Contondo has done amazing things and we expect to continue to add value to our platform."

All Contondo engineers will be retained and integrated into Bigtincan's global product development program. The asset acquisition is not considered a substantial asset of the equity interests of the entity.
