Business Update

The IOT Group Limited (ASX: IOT) ("IOT Group" or "the Company") is pleased to advise that the AirSelfie and ROVA Stocks are experiencing repeat orders within the global IOT distribution and retailer network.

Amazon and B&H repeat orders have increased by over 200% this week due to Christmas consumer purchases. This is a good sign that retailers are seeing the IOT range of products as successful retail products. IOT is experiencing repeat orders from B8TA, Best Buy US, Amazon and B&H Photo.

IOT believes this is the most critical news it can share with IOT Shareholders that the IOT products - AirSelfie and ROVA are receiving repeat orders from major US retailers. They are not first orders, these are repeat orders and in some cases, they are third and fourth repeat orders, this means that the current US retailers are selling through the IOT products to consumers and the retailers are re-ordering due to high consumer demand.

Best Buy US yesterday have launched the AirSelfie on their website. Best Buy is one of the top three Drone/Camera retailers in the United States. The ROVA and its Colours range is currently in over 300 Best Buy stores and is selling well.

Our United Kingdom distributor has secured Amazon UK and will be launching within the next 7 days. The UK distributor will also be launching our IOT products on Amazon in Italy, Spain, Germany and France over the next 21 days.

IOT have started to draw down on their recently established invoice factoring facility to increase reserves of the ROVA and AirSelfie.

Commentary

Executive Director of IOT Group, Mr. Sean Neylon comments:

"Receiving quality repeat orders and continual repeat orders from major US retailers is encouraging for us all at IOT. It's a steady build and IOT Shareholders should be aware that we are achieving solid repeat orders of the AirSelfie and ROVA which means that the product is selling through at the retail level.

AirSelfie and ROVA are on track to dominate the global Selfie Camera retail category."
