Ethical Investing in Focus

In December, the Morpic Global Opportunities Fund was also certified by the Responsible Investment Authority of Australia, joining the Morpic Ethical Equities Fund (ASX: MEC) as an ethical investment option for investors.

Insight Investment's "Thoughts for 2018", believes the growth seen in ethical investing will continue to increase steadily, with a focus on managers who incorporate ESG into their investment process. Of particular interest will be the growth of "green bonds". These bonds allow investors to finance specific ESG projects within companies through debt rather than share ownership. According to HSBC's S&P Green Bond Index, the social bonds market rose by 231.8 per cent over the 2016 and 2017 calendar years, while sustainable bonds jumped 35.5 per cent.

Portfolio review

The Fund fell 2.48% in December, trimming year to date returns. Global markets were up 1.5% in USD terms, but offsetting this the Australian dollar rose strongly, up 3% over the month.

For the year of 2017, global equities rose 21.6% in USD (14.8% in AUD terms) for the strongest year since the recovery took hold in 2009. It was a year of "new tech" with Software (+41.9%) and tech hardware (+36%) as the leading sectors globally. Investors also returned to Emerging Markets (+34%) and the US lagging with "just" 19% return for the year. For Australian investors, the 8% rise in the AUD over 2017 dampened these returns.

The Fund lagged global equity markets over the month. Stock selection was the primary detractor from performance.

Investors Cloud was the largest contributor to performance. Having fallen in November due to investors selling after the results, the stock rallied to new highs in December after the announcement of the regulatory approval for a more rapid roll-out of the cloud funding model they are pioneering in Japan (similar to BrickX in Australia). The Fund has started to sell the position as the price now incorporates most of the good news.

Our pairs position on the Japanese discount drugstore chains - Kusuri and Cosmos - was the largest detractor over the month as Kusuri fell heavily on weaker than expected monthly store sales. The Fund remains a holder, with the view the market is over extrapolating the monthly sales trend.

Lastly, Japanese digital marketing company Macromill fell following a sell down from its prior private equity owner during the month. We remain a holder, being of the view that now the sale is largely done, focus can return to the underlying business.

Outlook

Our prediction last month that markets should be good to investors in December, if not quite as good as November, proved correct. We did not, however see a rally in the AUD of that magnitude.

The world starts 2018 with economic data being the best in many years and Developed Markets seeing continued strength. This is translating into earnings forecasts being revised up rather than down for the first time in many years. What will be interesting to observe is how long the bond market can focus on the negatives rather than the positives.

Our Half Yearly review will have a comprehensive overview of our thoughts on markets for the coming half as well as providing our usual "anti-forecasts" of what won't happen. It will be sent to investors next week, we hope you take the time to read it.
