Commenting on the A'19 Expo, ClearVue Executive Chairman Victor Rosenberg has said:

"The Expo component of the AIA Conference on Architecture is the leading architectural and design show in the United States and one of the largest conferences and trade shows for architects globally. The Expo represents a fantastic opportunity for ClearVue to showcase its products and technology in the US market - particularly to the architects, designers and engineers who are key to having the ClearVue products specified for use in new large construction projects. We expect significant further interest and opportunities for ClearVue to flow out of the US from this show."

About ClearVue Technologies Limited

ClearVue Technologies Limited (ASX: CPV) is an Australian technology company that operates in the Building Integrated Photovoltaic (BPIV) sector which involves the integration of solar technology into building and agricultural industries, specifically glass and building surfaces, to provide renewable energy. ClearVue has developed advanced glass technology that aims to preserve glass transparency to maintain building aesthetics whilst generating electricity.

Solar PV cells are incorporated around the edges of an Insulated Glass Unit (IGU) used in windows and the lamination interlayer between the glass in the IGU incorporates ClearVue's patented proprietary nano and micro particles, as well as its spectral selective coating on the rear external surface of the IGU.

ClearVue's window technology has application for use in the building and construction and agricultural industries (amongst others).

ClearVue has worked closely with leading experts from the Electron Science Research Institute, Edith Cowan University (ECU) in Perth, Western Australia to develop the technology.
