ASX RELEASE: 9th January 2014

HOME OPEN ANDROID APP & WEBSITE UPDATE

- iPhone version of Home Open App is completed and approved by Apple
- Android version of Home Open App ahead of schedule
- Development of the www.homeopen.com website continues

Applabs Technologies Ltd is excited to announce its development and sales teams have hit the ground running to commence 2014.

Home Open App

The completed iPhone version of the Home Open App has enabled the development team to swiftly focus on the launch of the Android version. With our most experienced developers dedicating their time to the Android version, the development is progressing ahead of schedule.

www.homeopen.com

Since securing the global domain address www.homeopen.com in December, the Applabs website design and development division has focused substantial resources to developing a smart, user-friendly and practical website for its users. The focus to achieve such a high quality website is not only to showcase the ability of our website design and development division but also to broaden our user reach and capture a larger digital real estate customer base.

Managing Director, Stuart Kidd commented:

“ The strong start to the year by our team has been very impressive and I believe is paving the way for a very exciting 2014, with a strong focus on delivering our high quality real estate portal “Home Open” to the market”.

Applabs Technologies Ltd will continue to update the market as the development of Home Open progresses.

Yours sincerely
