NEWZULU SIGNS MAJOR US NEWS PRODUCER TO SUPPORT CROWD-SOURCED NEWS CHANNEL

Newzulu Limited (ASX: NWZ) is pleased to announce its strategy to produce crowd-sourced news television and online video channels from user-generated content built on the Newzulu technology platform (UGC News Channel). This strategy is now supported by a non-binding letter of agreement (NBLA) with leading US news producer, Regional News Network (RNN) that establishes a proposed framework for collaboration between Newzulu and RNN to develop innovative news television formats and channels in the USA. The UGC News Channel will source news content direct from the mobile devices of the national US audience using Newzulu's technology and will be carried via major US television, over-the-top (OTT) and online services. The NBLA contemplates a 5-year global technology licensing agreement, to be negotiated and mutually agreed by Newzulu and RNN, valued by Newzulu at US$3,000,000 (approximately $A4,145,164) and grants RNN priority rights in relation to certain capital raisings completed by Newzulu.

The UGC News Channel enhances Newzulu's existing content distribution business through international syndication partners and will offer a prominent showcase of Newzulu's crowd-sourcing technology to publishers, broadcasters and brands in the USA and worldwide. The UGC News Channel will enable Newzulu to accelerate revenues from the lucrative US market through direct engagement of its mobile applications and web platforms with an audience extending up to 115 million television households and up to 198 million mobile devices*.

The extension of Newzulu's content business into television and online video channel and format development leveraging crowd-sourced content significantly expands the scope of the Company's business model and revenue streams. Newzulu also plans to develop new revenue streams from other crowd-sourced television and video channels powered by its technology in categories including politics, weather, entertainment, sport and social activism, though deals in the USA and in other key territories similar to the NBLA. RNN and Newzulu are continuing to conduct due diligence investigations with respect to the proposed collaboration between Newzulu and RNN. The detailed commercial terms of the NBLA are subject to further agreement and full form documentation.
