The TikRide platform will also offer a pre-vetted and pre-qualified driver community, allowing rideshare operators to engage directly with the community for recruitment of drivers.

The managed solution will be implemented into the Zeffer service immediately for the Perth operation, with expansion into Sydney and Melbourne to follow.

Zeffer Director, Torren Read commented, “ We are very excited to be partnering with TikForce in the provision of a complete recruitment and compliance solution. Zeffer is in the process expanding as a major regional luxury transportation technology platform over the next 24 months. The TikRide platform will provide Zeffer with a seamless and efficient management solution, which will relieve us of an enormous manual administrative process.”

TikForce CEO, Kevin Baum commented, “It is with great pleasure that we are able to support Zeffer in the execution of a very aggressive regional expansion strategy. We have been working for some months with the Zeffer Management and Directors to facilitate a complete managed solution, that will support their scalable growth business model.

TikRide is a solution that I believe will help drivers to have more choice and opportunities to profit from the on-demand transportation industry. To date, the young Australian on-demand and rideshare segment has been dominated by one multinational company, however, the landscape is changing. This has been evidenced with the emergence of several national and regional operators, such as Zeffer, who are finding a market that is willing to support a nimble and innovative local service.

On-Demand drivers have shouldered too much of the burden of the disruption to the Taxi industry. It is time for that to change.”
