He has held executive and Chief Executive roles across strategy, marketing, and merchandise among others. SFG's Chairman, Ms Anne McDonald, said the Board's search criteria had included strong senior credentials in fashion merchandising, supply chain, a deep understanding of customer experiences and staff engagement, the drivers of brand loyalty in a digital world, and experience in building and leading customer led cultures.

"Following a comprehensive search process the Board is delighted that Daniel has agreed to lead the next phase of the company's development including leadership of the ongoing structural review to improve shareholder value announced at the AGM.

"Daniel brings passion, energy and deep experience developing successful apparel brands, reinvigorating merchandising strategies, and leading the transformation of retail businesses facing structural, cyclical, and competitive challenges," Ms McDonald said.

Commenting on his appointment, Mr Bracken said, "I'm looking forward to working with the SFG team to continue the transformation of the Group and to ensure that everything we do from service and advice, to the products we range, to the in-store and online experience exceeds our customers' expectations.

"SFG has a range of customers in the lifestyle as well as mature and plus-sized segments of the apparel market that fashion too often overlooks. I am energised by the opportunity to harness the power clothing has to influence how you feel about yourself and accelerate the work underway to achieve the company's aspirational purpose - to change the perception of fashion," said Mr Bracken.
