LiveOffer Leasing Platform Rollout continues

Property Connect is making strong progress in 2018 rolling out its LiveOffer online leasing platform. The technology delivers an efficient and transparent online system for tenants, owners and agents to negotiate optimum leasing contracts for properties.

Following the execution of leases through the LiveOffer platform in Victoria and Western Australia last year, 2018 has seen further successful trials of the LiveOffer rental platform in Sydney's North Shore through the McGrath office. Where there is strong demand for properties the platform has enabled renters to efficiently compete to determine the most appropriate market rent.

McGrath Lower North Shore Office Principal Dean Mackie said, "Where there was more than one applicant, engagement was competitive on price and terms, tenants were keen to secure properties and found the transparency and immediacy compelling, so much so that the property managers couldn't keep up".

Extending the LiveOffer Platform for Sales Auctions

Property Connect is also in the process of extending the current platform to residential real estate sales opportunities with discussions regarding trial partners to commence shortly.

Property Connect CEO Daren Patterson said, "LiveOffer has significant potential in the sales auction arena. We believe LiveOffer is particularly applicable and effective for sales of off-the-plan properties and apartment complexes.

"We expect to adopt a similar approach to the rental rollout by partnering with established real estate sales firms to trial our technology and platform in residential sales and auctions" he added.
