Principle 1: Lay solid foundations for management and oversight

The relationship between the Board and senior management is critical to the Group's long-term success. Their focus is to enhance the interests of shareholders and other key stakeholders and to ensure the Group is properly managed.

Day to day management of the Group's affairs and the implementation of the corporate strategy and policy initiatives are formally delegated by the Board to the Managing Director and senior executives.

The full Board meets at least eight times a year, with other meetings as required to address any specific significant matters that may arise.

Name	Term in office

Board composition

The Board has not been comprised of a majority of independent non-executive directors since the resignation of Mr Michael Clarey on 7 October 2011.

- The Chair is an independent non-executive director. In recognition of the importance of independent views and the Board's role in supervising the activities of management, all directors are required to exercise independent judgement and review and constructively challenge the performance of management.
- The Chair is elected by the full Board and meets regularly with the Managing Director.
- The Company maintains a mix of directors on the Board from different backgrounds with complementary skills and experience.
- The Board undertakes an annual Board performance review and consider the appropriate mix of skills required by the Board to maximise its effectiveness and its contribution to the Group. This review process was conducted in November 2016.

The Board seeks to ensure that the size of the Board is conducive to effective discussion and efficient decision making.

The Company's Constitution specifies that all non-executive directors must retire from office no later than the third annual general meeting (AGM) following their last election. Where eligible, a director may stand for re-election, at the next AGM.

Directors' independence

The Board has adopted specific principles in relation to directors' independence. These state that to be deemed independent, a director must be non-executive and:

- not be a substantial shareholder of the Company or an officer of, or otherwise associated directly with, a substantial shareholder of the Company
- within the last three years, not have been employed in an executive capacity by the Company or any other Group member, or been a director after ceasing to hold any such employment
- within the last three years not have been a principal of a material professional adviser or a material consultant to the Company or any other Group member, or an employee materially associated with the service provided
- not be a material supplier or customer of the Company or any other Group member, or an officer of or otherwise associated directly or indirectly with a material supplier or customer

China Magnesium Corporation Limited and its subsidiaries Corporate Governance Statement – 30 June 2017

Principle 2: Structure the board to add value (continued)

- must have no material contractual relationship with the Company or a controlled entity other than as a director of the Group
- not have been on the Board for a period which could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company
- be free from any interest and any business or other relationship which could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company.

Materiality for these purposes is determined on both quantitative and qualitative bases. A transaction of any amount or a relationship is deemed material if knowledge of it may impact the shareholders' understanding of the director's performance.

In the context of director independence, "materiality" is considered from both the company and the individual director perspective. An item is presumed to be quantitatively immaterial if it is equal or less than 10% of the appropriate base amount. It is presumed to be material (unless there is qualitative evidence to the contrary) if it is equal to or greater than 10% of the appropriate base amount. Qualitative factors considered included whether a relationship is strategically important, the competitive landscape, the nature of the relationship and the contractual or other arrangements governing it and other factors which point to the actual ability of the director in question to shape the direction of the company's loyalty.

In accordance with the Corporate Governance Council Recommendation 2.4's definition of independence above, and the materiality thresholds set, the following directors are considered to be independent at the date of this report:

Name	Position
William Bass	Non-Executive Chairman
Peter Robertson	Non-Executive Director

In accordance with the Council's definition of independence above, and the materiality thresholds set, the following directors are not considered to be independent:

Name	Position
Tom Blackhurst	Managing Director
Xinping Liang	Chief Operating Officer

Mr Blackhurst and Mr Liang are substantial shareholders and employed by the company in an executive capacity.

The company considers industry experience and specific expertise, as well as general corporate experience, to be important attributes of its board members. The directors noted above have been appointed to the board for these reasons.

There are procedures in place, agreed by the board, to enable directors, in furtherance of their duties, to seek independent professional advice at the company's expense.

Therefore, according to the Council's definition of independence above, at the date of this report, the majority of the board were considered not independent.

Principle 2: Structure the board to add value (continued)

Wherever there is an actual or potential conflict of interest or material personal interest, the board's policies and procedures ensure that the directors:

- Fully and frankly inform the board about the circumstances giving rise to the conflict; and
- Abstain from voting on any motion relating to the matter and absenting himself or herself from board deliberations relating to the matter including receipt of board papers bearing on the matter.

If the board resolves to permit a director to have any involvement in a matter involving possible circumstances of conflicting interests, the board will minute full details of the basis of the determination and the nature of the conflict including a formal resolution concerning the matter.

If a director believes that he may have a conflict of interest or duty in relation to a particular matter, the director should immediately consult with the chairman. The Company Secretary will maintain a register of all possible conflict of interest situations.

Non-executive directors

The non-executive directors meet as required without the presence of management, to discuss the operation of the Board and a range of other matters. Relevant matters arising from these meetings are shared with the full Board.

Chair and Managing Director

The Chair is responsible for leading the Board, ensuring directors are properly briefed in all matters relevant to their role and responsibilities, facilitating Board discussions and managing the Board's relationship with the Company's senior executives.

The Managing Director is responsible for implementing Group strategies and policies. The Board charter specifies that these are separate roles to be undertaken by separate people.

Commitment

Non-executive directors are expected to spend an appropriate portion of time per year preparing for and attending Board and committee meetings and associated activities.

The number of meetings of the Company's Board of Directors and of each Board committee held during the year ended 30 June, and the number of meetings attended by each director is disclosed in the Directors' Report.

It is the Company's practice to allow its executive directors to accept appointments outside the Company with prior advice to the Board. At the date of the annual report no executive director has accepted an appointment outside the Company.

The commitments of non-executive directors are considered by the Board prior to the directors' appointment to the Board of the Company and are reviewed each year as part of the annual performance assessment.

Prior to appointment or being submitted for re-election, each non-executive director is required to specifically acknowledge that they have and will continue to have the time available to discharge their responsibilities to the Company.

The Company requires that all directors, managers and employees perform their duties professionally and act with the utmost integrity and objectivity, striving at all times to enhance the reputation and performance of the Company.

The Code of Conduct gives guidance to the directors and other key executives about:

- the practices necessary to maintain confidence in the integrity of the Company; and
- the right of employees to alert management and the Board in good faith to potential misconduct without fear of retribution, and, where necessary, recording and investigation of such alerts.

The Company has a formal procedure in place to deal with the disposal or acquisition of the Company's securities. In addition, there are specific periods that trading in the Company's securities are prohibited by Director's and staff.

The Company holds regular meetings with land-owners and local communities in which it operates to ensure that effective communication provided on the Company's activities and that any relevant issues are dealt with.

Principle 7: Recognise and manage risk

The Managing Director, Comptroller and Financial Controller provide a written statement to the Board that:

- the integrity of the Company's financial statements are prepared on the basis that there are appropriate internal controls and that there is sufficient compliance with these controls to ensure no material misstatement of the Company's affairs and financial position;
- the Company's risk management and controls systems are operating effectively in all material respects.

During the 2017 financial year, all matters normally within the province of the risk committee were referred to the full Board of Directors.

This included responsibility for ensuring that there are adequate policies in relation to risk management, compliance and internal control systems.

In summary, the Company policies are designed to ensure strategic, operational, legal, reputation and financial risks are identified assessed, effectively and efficiently managed and monitored to enable achievement of the Group's business objectives.

Considerable importance is placed on maintaining a strong control environment. There is an organisation structure with clearly drawn lines of accountability and delegation of authority. The Company Risk Management Policy and the operation of the risk management and compliance system are regularly reviewed by the full Board.

Detailed control procedures cover management accounting, financial reporting, project appraisal, environment, health and safety, IT security, compliance and other risk management issues. China Magnesium Corporation Limited and its subsidiaries Corporate Governance Statement – 30 June 2017

Principle 8: Remunerate fairly and responsibly

During the 2017 financial year all matters which would normally be referred to the remuneration committee were referred to the full Board of Directors.

This included responsibility for:

- remuneration and incentive policies and practices generally, and
- making specific recommendations on remuneration packages and other terms of employment for executive directors, other senior executives and non-executive directors.

Committee members receive regular information on recent developments on remuneration and related matters as required.

The performance of senior executives is assessed against Group and individual performance targets at least at the time each of their contracts are due for renewal.

The Board reviews its performance on an on-going basis to ensure that individual directors and the Board as a whole work efficiently and effectively in fulfilling their functions set out in the Charter. In addition to this, the Chairman meets annually and separately with each non-executive director to discuss individual performance and ideas for improvement.

Further information on directors' and executives' remuneration, including principles used to determine remuneration, is set out in the Directors' Report under the heading "Remuneration Report".

The Board also assumes responsibility for overseeing management succession planning, including the implementation of appropriate executive development programmes and ensuring adequate arrangements are in place, so that appropriate candidates are recruited for later promotion to senior positions.

Adoption of Principles and Recommendations

The Group has adopted the Recommendations except as noted hereunder

Recommendations 3.2 – 3.3

The Company recognises that a diverse and talented workforce is a competitive advantage and that the Company's international success is the result of the quality and skills of our people, who are primarily resident in northern China. Our practice is to recruit and manage on the basis of qualification for the position and performance, regardless of gender, age, nationality, race, religious beliefs, cultural background, sexuality or physical ability. It is essential that the Company employs the appropriate person for each job and that each person strives for a high level of performance. In light of this, the Board has not adopted a formal diversity policy which includes requirements to establish measurable objectives for achieving gender diversity.

Recommendation 4.2

The Audit Committee did not consist of only non-executive directors and is not chaired by a person other than the Chair of the Board.

The Board believes that these exceptions to the Recommendations are appropriate given the size of the Board and the development stage of the Company.
