

30 July 2019MARKET UPDATE

Following the completion of a strategic and operational review and after considering all options available to Blue Sky Alternative Investments Limited ('Blue Sky') and its subsidiaries in the circumstances, the receivers and managers of Blue Sky, Jarrod Villani and Mark Korda, have commenced a restructuring of Blue Sky and its assets. Given the complex nature of Blue Sky's corporate structure and the independent operating units within the group, the restructuring will be undertaken in phases. After a difficult period over the past 16 months, the restructuring offers a clear path forward for employees and investors in the underlying managed funds.

The restructuring will commence this week with the transfer of Blue Sky's Real Assets business (water and agriculture funds) to Australian Alternative Asset Partners Pte Ltd ('AAAP'), a subsidiary of funds managed by the Special Situations group of Oaktree Capital Management L.P.

Consistent with the vital importance of a continuation of the Real Assets business and its investment team to deliver on fund investor outcomes, the receivers and managers understand that AAAP will enter into arrangements with Argyle Capital Partners Pty Ltd ('ACP'), an entity majority-owned by Kim Morison, pursuant to which Mr Morison and his team will continue to oversee investment management operations of the Real Assets business, including, in some cases, pursuant to certain sub-advisory arrangements to be entered into with the Real Assets funds. It is intended that ACP will ultimately operate on a standalone basis under the leadership of Mr Morison and his management team.

Subsequent phases of the restructuring will involve the transition of certain assets and subsidiaries from Blue Sky to AAAP and, in some cases, will involve partnerships with key existing management of the kind outlined above in respect of the Real Assets business. Other assets will remain in Blue Sky and be realised over time. These various elements of the transaction being in connection with the restructuring of Blue Sky's secured debt. The complex process of restructuring Blue Sky and its assets is expected to take months or years.

With the review completed, a number of positions regrettably are in the process of being made redundant. All entitlements will be met in full for affected employees.

Shares in Blue Sky will remain suspended from trading throughout the restructuring process. A return to shareholders is not anticipated based on current expectations. Accordingly, in the absence of any new material development not otherwise contemplated by this announcement, the receivers and managers do not expect to provide any further market updates in relation to the restructuring process.
