Alcidion signs partnership with Healthscope for data and analytics

Melbourne, Victoria – Alcidion Group Ltd (ASX: ALC) (Alcidion) has signed a three-year agreement with Australian private healthcare provider Healthscope to implement a solution to support its data and analytics strategy. The value of the agreement is $895K over three years.

The objective is for Healthscope and Alcidion to work together to support Healthscope's vision for using data to drive transformation in the way healthcare is managed and delivered. Using data from Healthscope's 43 hospitals, Alcidion will develop dashboards to support predictive analytics and long-range planning for Healthscope services.

Alcidion Managing Director Kate Quirke said, "Alcidion is excited to establish this relationship with Healthscope to augment their data and analytics capabilities across the organisation. This is Alcidion's first implementation of our data analytics capabilities into a private hospital group. It demonstrates how important data is becoming across the healthcare sector. We look forward to sharing our extensive capabilities around health care data management to assist Healthscope to drive better outcomes."
