Investors are also referred to the 'Key risks' in Appendix B of this Presentation (including, without limitation, the risks in section 1.6 (Integration risk and realisation of synergies) and section 1.7 (Future earnings risk)) and the Disclaimers in this Presentation, in particular to the paragraph titled 'Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements', in relation to the risks and uncertainties associated with the targeted potential synergies and other forward looking statements in connection with the Proposed Transaction. The prospective financial information included in this Presentation, including the references to the potential impact on EBTDA and the potential synergies, is predictive in character, may be affected by inaccurate assumptions or by known or unknown risks and uncertainties and may differ materially from results ultimately achieved.

Transaction overview: key terms

For personal use only

Transaction overview

- Zip and Sezzle have entered into a definitive merger agreement under which Zip has agreed to acquire Sezzle in an all-scrip transaction (the “Proposed Transaction”)
- The Proposed Transaction has been unanimously recommended by the Sezzle and Zip Boards of Directors and the mergers and acquisitions committee of Sezzle’s Board of Directors, and each of Sezzle’s co-founders, Charlie Youakim and Paul Paradis (accounting for 48% of Sezzle’s outstanding shares of common capital stock), and Zip’s co-founders Larry Diamond and Peter Gray (accounting for 12% of Zip’s issued ordinary shares), have agreed to vote, subject to certain exceptions, in favour of the Proposed Transaction¹

Transaction consideration

- Sezzle stockholders will be entitled to receive 0.98 Zip shares for every share of Sezzle common stock owned²
 - The total consideration for the Sezzle shares under Zip’s proposal represents an implied value of Sezzle of approximately A$491m³
 - It values Sezzle at a 22.0% premium based on current spot prices A$1.78 (Sezzle) and A$2.21 (Zip) as of 25 February 2022, and 31.7% premium based on 30 day VWAPs
- Upon closing of the Proposed Transaction, Sezzle stockholders will be entitled to receive up to a maximum of 222.3m Zip ordinary shares or American Depository Receipts (“ADRs”) of Zip, representing a maximum of 22% of the issued shares of Zip immediately following the closing of the Proposed Transaction (on a fully diluted basis)⁴

Financial impact^{5,6}

- Proposed Transaction expected to be accretive to revenue per share and accretive to EBTDA per share in FY24F, including the full impact of potential synergies
- Potential to realise material cost synergies and opportunities for revenue and margin uplift with EBTDA benefits of up to c. A$130m EBTDA in FY24 (of which A$60-80m EBTDA are cost synergies)
 - Expected to be EBTDA and cash flow positive during FY24, including the full impact of potential synergies
- Balance sheet strength supporting sustainable growth following A$148.7m fully underwritten placement and up to A$50m non-underwritten share purchase plan⁷ with more capital runway to execute on potential synergies
 - Improved capital recycling driven by an increase in volume coming from Pay in 4 to c. 60%

Notes: market data sourced from IRESS as of 25 February 2022. 1. Each of Charlie Youakim, Paul Paradis, Larry Diamond and Peter Gray have made their respective voting commitments via their respective shareholding entities. 2. As part of the Proposed Transaction, Zip is also establishing an American Depository Receipts program (with such securities required to be listed on a US exchange as a condition to the closing of the Proposed Transaction) (the Zip ADRs) and Sezzle stockholders outside of Australia may elect under and subject to the terms of the definitive merger agreement to receive 0.98 Zip ADRs for every share of Sezzle common stock owned in lieu of receiving Zip shares. To the extent that eligible Sezzle stockholders do not elect to receive Zip ADRs by a prescribed date before closing of the Proposed Transaction, they will only be entitled to receive Zip shares. 3. Implied value calculated on a fully diluted basis and based on the closing price of Zip shares of A$2.21 as of 25 February 2022. This excludes the impact of any permitted equity financing that may be undertaken by Sezzle before closing of the Proposed Transaction in accordance with the merger agreement (which is capped at a maximum amount of 24.7m Sezzle shares at a minimum price of A$1.53). 4. Estimated ownership percentage calculated on a fully diluted basis and assumes the inclusion of 78.3m shares issued under the Placement and excludes the impact of any permitted equity financing that may be undertaken by Sezzle before closing of the Proposed Transaction in accordance with the merger agreement (which is capped at a maximum amount of 24.7m Sezzle shares at a minimum price of A$1.53). 5. Please refer to page 16 for more details on the composition of the potential synergies, including the material assumptions. Investors are also referred to the “Key risks” in Appendix B of this Presentation (including, without limitation, the risks in section 1.6 (Integration risk and realisation of synergies) and section 1.7 (Future earnings risk)) and the Disclaimers in this Presentation, in particular to the paragraph titled “Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements”, in relation to the risks and uncertainties associated with the targeted potential synergies and other forward looking statements in connection with the Proposed Transaction. The prospective financial information included in this slide, including the references to the potential impact on EBTDA and the potential synergies, is predictive in character, may be affected by inaccurate assumptions or by known or unknown risks and uncertainties and may differ materially from results ultimately achieved. 6. EBTDA is a financial measure not prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) and Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (“GAAP”). 7. Zip reserves the right to increase or decrease the size of the SPP and/or scale back applications under the SPP as its discretion.

Transaction overview: key terms (cont'd)

SEC registration and US listing

- In connection with the Proposed Transaction, Zip will also file with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) a registration statement on Form F-4 (which will include a definitive proxy statement of Sezzle and a prospectus of Zip) with respect to the Zip ordinary shares and Zip ADRs to be issued in the Proposed Transaction that will be provided to Sezzle stockholders and a Form F-6 to register the Zip ADRs
- As part of the Proposed Transaction, Zip is also establishing an ADR program, with such securities required to be listed on a US exchange as a condition to closing of the Proposed Transaction¹
 - ADRs allow US investors to invest in non-US companies and give non-US companies easier access to the US capital markets
 - As Zip will have undertaken this process as part of the Proposed Transaction, this provides Zip with a pathway to explore a US IPO in the future and/or a greater opportunity to access new pools of capital in the US

Underwritten equity raising

- Zip is also undertaking an equity raising via a fully underwritten institutional placement of approximately A$148.7m (“Placement”) to eligible institutional, professional and sophisticated investors
- Zip will also be undertaking a non-underwritten Share Purchase Plan to existing eligible Zip shareholders in Australia and New Zealand to raise up to A$50m (“SPP”)²
- Proceeds of the Placement and SPP will help Zip strengthen its balance sheet and positions Zip for sustainable growth by providing more capital runway to execute on potential synergies from the Proposed Transaction³

Timing and conditions

- Zip expects to complete the Proposed Transaction by the end of the third quarter of CY2022
- The Proposed Transaction is subject to various closing conditions, including:
 - Approval by the requisite vote of Sezzle stockholders and receipt of the requisite Zip shareholder approval;
 - The new Zip ADRs having been authorised for listing on a US securities exchange; and
 - Other conditions, including regarding the receipt of regulatory approvals and waivers

Management and Board

- In order to ensure alignment on delivery of the combined company strategy, as part of the Proposed Transaction Zip will expand the Zip Board of directors to nine members, comprising three persons appointed by Sezzle (being, Co-Founder and CEO of Sezzle, Charlie Youakim as an Executive Director, Paul Lahiff and Mike Cutter as Non-Executive Directors), and an independent director mutually agreed between Zip and Sezzle. Diane Smith-Gander will remain the Independent Chairperson of Zip
- Upon closing, Charlie Youakim will become President and CEO of the Americas (US, Mexico and Canada) and Executive Director & President of Sezzle, Paul Paradis will join the US leadership team

Notes: 1. Sezzle stockholders outside of Australia may elect pursuant to and subject to the terms of the definitive merger agreement to receive following the closing 0.98 Zip ADRs for every share of Sezzle common stock owned in lieu of receiving Zip ordinary shares. To the extent that eligible Sezzle stockholders do not elect to receive Zip ADRs by a prescribed election date before closing of the Proposed Transaction, they will only be entitled to receive Zip ordinary shares. 2. Zip reserves the right to increase or decrease the size of the SPP and/or scale back applications under the SPP at its discretion. 3. If the Proposed Transaction does not complete after settlement of the Placement and/or SPP, Zip will use the proceeds from the Placement and/or SPP to improve its balance sheet strength to support growth and for general working capital purposes.

Key Risks

Key risks

This section describes the key business risks associated with the Proposed Transaction together with the risks relating to participation in the Placement and the SPP (together, the Capital Raising) that may affect the value of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs. Before investing in Zip, you should be aware that an investment in Zip has a number of risks, some of which are specific to Zip and some of which relate to listed securities generally, and many of which are beyond the control of Zip.

The risks set out in this section do not constitute an exhaustive list of all risks involved in an investment in Zip and for the avoidance of doubt, the categorisation of the risks does not limit their relevance to that particular category.

Investors should consult their own professional, financial, legal and tax advisers about those risks and the suitability of investing in light of their particular circumstances. Investors should also consider publicly available information on Zip and Sezzle (including information available on the ASX website) before making an investment decision.

1. Proposed Transaction specific risks

1.1. Completion risks

Zip expects the Proposed Transaction to proceed as advised in this Presentation. If the Proposed Transaction fails to complete or completion is delayed, Zip may not be able to realise some or all of the benefits that it expects to achieve within its expected timeframe or at all.

Failure to complete the Proposed Transaction or delay completion of the Proposed Transaction may be due to circumstances outside of Zip's control, including intervention by a regulatory body or order of a court of competent jurisdiction that imposes conditions, terms, obligations or restrictions in connection with their approval of the Proposed Transaction, a failure to satisfy any of the conditions precedent to the merger agreement between Zip and Sezzle ("Merger Agreement"), or the occurrence of any event, change or other circumstance that could give rise to the termination of the Merger Agreement, amongst other factors.

Completion may also be impacted or prevented as a result of changes in the relevant legal and regulatory frameworks in Australia, the United States or other relevant jurisdictions. If completion of the Proposed Transaction is delayed, Zip may incur additional costs and it may take longer than anticipated, if at all, for Zip to realise the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Transaction.

1.2. Due diligence

Zip has undertaken a period of due diligence with Sezzle, which relied in part on the review of financial and other information provided by Sezzle. Zip has not been able to verify the accuracy, reliability or completeness of all of the information which was provided to it against independent data. Zip's assumptions and analysis may be inaccurate, including as a result of incorrect or missing information, flawed analysis methods or incorrect assumptions.

There is no assurance that the due diligence conducted was comprehensive and that all material issues and risks in respect of the Proposed Transaction have been completely or accurately identified and avoided (or managed appropriately) and actual performance or circumstances may differ from Zip's conclusions. There is a risk that unforeseen issues and risks in respect of the Proposed Transaction in relation to Sezzle and its business may arise, which may have a material adverse impact on Zip (for example, Zip may later discover liabilities or issues which were not identified through due diligence). This could adversely affect the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of Zip and Sezzle on a combined basis (the Combined Business). Importantly, under the terms of the Merger Agreement, representations and warranties will not survive completion of the Proposed Transaction and neither party will have contractual recourse against the other party following completion of the Proposed Transaction with respect to a breach of such representations or warranties.

1.3. Approval by Sezzle stockholders

There is a risk that the Proposed Transaction is not approved by the requisite number of Sezzle stockholders as required under Delaware law. If the Proposed Transaction is not approved by Sezzle stockholders, the Proposed Transaction will not proceed and Zip will not be entitled to any break fee or other remuneration solely by virtue of the failure of Sezzle stockholders to approve the Proposed Transaction.

1.4. Approval by Zip shareholders

There is a risk that the Proposed Transaction is not approved by the requisite number of Zip shareholders as required under the ASX Listing Rules. If such approval is not obtained, the Proposed Transaction will not proceed.

Key risks (cont'd)

1. Proposed Transaction specific risks

1.5. Market value of the consideration

The price at which Zip's shares will be quoted on the ASX and Zip's American Depository Receipts ("ADRs") will be quoted on a U.S. exchange may experience price and volume fluctuations that are due to a number of factors outside Zip's control and which are not explained by the fundamental operations and activities of Zip.

General factors that may affect the market price of Zip's shares and ADRs include (i) future announcements concerning Zip's business or Zip's competitors' businesses; (ii) economic conditions in both Australia and the US; (iii) investor sentiment, local and international share market conditions; (iv) changes in interest rates and the rate of inflation and central bank policies; (v) the global security situation and the possibility of terrorist disturbances; (vi) pandemics and epidemics, including COVID-19; (vii) changes to government regulation, policy or legislation, in particular taxation laws; (viii) changes in accounting standards, policies, guidance, interpretations or principles; (ix) changes which may occur to the taxation of companies as a result of changes in Australian and foreign taxation laws; (x) adverse resolution of new or pending litigation or other claims against the Combined Business; (xi) announcement of new technologies; (xii) geopolitical instability, including international hostilities and acts of terrorism; (xiii) demand for and supply of Zip's shares and ADRs; (xiv) analyst reports; (xv) changes to the system of dividend imputation in Australia; (xvi) changes in exchange rates and (xvii) variations in commodity prices.

These factors may cause Zip's shares and ADRs to trade at prices above or below the price at which the securities were initially issued. There is no guarantee of the market price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs issued as consideration under the Proposed Transaction. Future market prices may either be above or below current or historical market prices.

1.6. Integration risk and realisation of synergies

The success of the Proposed Transaction will depend, in part, on Zip's ability to successfully combine the businesses of Zip and Sezzle, which currently operate as independent companies, including realising the targeted synergies, cost savings and operational efficiencies from the combination. There is a risk that the Combined Business's success and the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of the Combined Business could be adversely affected if the Sezzle business is not integrated effectively with Zip's business. There are inherent risks in the integration of Sezzle. Without limiting the possible issues or challenges that could be faced in the integration of Sezzle, there may be issues with the integration of operating and management systems (such as IT, information, or accounting systems), challenges maintaining employee morale and attracting and motivating and retaining management personnel and other key employees, the possibility of faulty assumptions underlying expectations regarding the integration process, consolidating corporate and administrative infrastructures and eliminating duplicative operations and challenges that divert management attention or do not deliver the expected benefits of the Proposed Transaction. Many of these factors will be outside of the Combined Business's control and these issues may cause unexpected delays, liabilities and costs to the Combined Business. Additionally, there are inherent risks in connection with the targeted potential synergies. For example, there is a risk that the targeted synergies of the Proposed Transaction may be less than estimated or potential synergies are not achieved or take longer to achieve. If the integration of Zip and Sezzle takes longer than expected there may be delays in achieving the targeted potential synergies. In addition, Zip's initial estimate of the cost of integration may differ from the actual cost of integration. Zip may not be able to realise the targeted cost synergies and/or Zip may not be able to win new customers and merchants (including as required to offset any customer loss as a result of the Proposed Transaction). Further, given the costs associated with implementing the targeted synergies, Zip's ability to realise the benefits is dependent, in part, on Zip having sufficient capital and other resources to complete the integration in the manner and time period contemplated. The potential achievement of any revenue synergies is also partly dependent upon influencing customer behaviour and therefore may be difficult to achieve. The estimated synergies from the Proposed Transaction are predicative in character, may be affected by inaccurate assumptions or by known or unknown risks and uncertainties and may differ materially from results ultimately achieved. These risks may have a material impact on the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of the Combined Business and the future price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs.

1.7. Future earnings risk

It is possible that Zip's financial and business analysis of Sezzle and the Combined Business, and the assumptions made by Zip, draw conclusions and forecasts that are inaccurate, or which will not be realised in due course. To the extent that the actual results achieved by Sezzle and consequently the Combined Business are different than those anticipated, there is a risk that the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of Sezzle, and consequently of the Combined Business, may differ (potentially in a materially adverse way) from the performance and forecasts as described in this Presentation. There is also no guarantee that any prospective future earnings of Zip will be realised after completion of the Proposed Transaction. Depending on the success of the Proposed Transaction, integration of the Sezzle business may have an adverse impact on existing arrangements with merchants and customers as well as the ability to onboard new customers and merchants which may have an adverse impact on future earnings and Combined Business's ability to realise the same margins in the current economic climate. The prospective financial information of the Combined Business (including in relation to revenue, total transaction value (TTV), net transaction margin (NTM), expenditure, cash flow, EBTDA) is presented for illustrative purposes only and is not necessarily indicative of what the Combined Business's actual financial position or results of operations will be and such financial information may be affected by inaccurate assumptions or by known or unknown risks and uncertainties and may differ materially from results ultimately achieved. Investors should also note that Presentation contains pro forma historical financial information, which is provided for illustrative purposes only and is not represented as being indicative of Zip's (or anyone else's) views on the Combined Business's future financial condition and/or performance.

Key risks (cont'd)

1. Proposed Transaction specific risks

1.8. Regulatory risks in United States and other countries

Under the Proposed Transaction, Zip will be acquiring an entity incorporated in Delaware, and consequently Zip must comply with the laws and regulations of Delaware and the United States in relation to the Proposed Transaction as well as the laws and regulations relating to operating a business in the countries where Sezzle operates (which currently includes the United States, Canada, Germany and India). Any material breach of the relevant legal or regulatory obligations or failure to meet compliance requirements may have an adverse impact on, or will prevent completion of, the Proposed Transaction, and may also have an adverse impact on the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of the Combined Business.

1.9. Historical liabilities

If the Proposed Transaction is consummated, Zip will have exposure to any liabilities that Sezzle has incurred or agreed to incur in the past, including liabilities in connection with the Proposed Transaction, such as adviser fees, payments under management incentive plans and those triggered by future control transactions. Zip's exposure to liabilities may be greater than expected, and for which insurance may not be adequate or available. These could include liabilities relating to current or future litigation, regulatory actions, and other liabilities. Such liability may adversely affect the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of the Combined Business. Importantly, under the terms of the Merger Agreement, representations and warranties will not survive completion of the Proposed Transaction and neither party will have contractual recourse against the other party following completion of the Proposed Transaction with respect to a breach of such representations or warranties.

1.10. Current business risks and economic conditions

Zip and Sezzle operate in a rapidly changing sector that is affected by wider macro and micro economic factors. In the current market, the BNPL sector is experiencing rapid change as a result of increasing competition, lower margins, increased business costs and increased bad debts. In addition, the risk of rising inflation and other economic factors (including COVID-19 and the associated global uncertainty and central bank policies directed at curbing inflation) may result in an increase in interest rates.

Higher interest rates will put further pressure on the margins, costs and expenses of the Combined Business, as such will increase both Zip and Sezzle's funding costs. If the current market trends continue and external factors outside of Zip's control continue to put pressure on losses, expenses and the business operations more broadly, this could have a material adverse impact on the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of the Combined Business. In the event of higher interest rates or inflation, or deterioration in Australian, the United States or other global economic conditions, there may be an increase in the likelihood that existing and potential customers will become unemployed or have insufficient income to pay their debts. It may also decrease underlying customer spending that drives demand for Zip's products. Further, consumer confidence and spending may not necessarily correspond with levels of unemployment or inflation, as consumer confidence and spending have waned even in the absence of such conditions against the backdrop of COVID-19 and the associated global uncertainty and slowdown.

Given this climate of economic volatility and the evolving nature of the BNPL sector, there is a risk that Sezzle and Zip may not be able to effectively manage growth, sustain their current growth rate and maintain their market share as a Combined Business. The Proposed Transaction increases Zip and Sezzle's exposure to these industry specific risks as it invests further capital and resources into the BNPL sector. This in turn may have a material adverse impact on Zip's business, financial position, operating and financial performance, growth, and/or the value of its shares.

1.11. Data and cyber security

The cyber threat to companies around the world is growing and unrelenting. Zip and Sezzle are online businesses that are not immune to these risks. A cyberattack or hack of Zip or Sezzle's systems could have serious impacts on the Combined Business's reputation, operational and financial performance.

Both Zip and Sezzle collect personal, financial and credit related information on their customers. Security breaches may compromise customer data, which could result in breaches of privacy laws, enforcement actions by regulators, private actions and/or negative publicity, and may damage Zip, Sezzle and consequently the Combined Business's brand, reputation and consumer confidence. Many governments have enacted laws requiring companies to notify individuals of data security breaches involving their personal data. These mandatory disclosures are costly to implement and often lead to widespread negative publicity following a breach. Further, laws relating to data privacy are evolving across all jurisdictions and any changes to standards may adversely impact the Combined Business's systems and operating procedures, which may in turn adversely impact the Combined Business's operation and financial performance.

Both Zip and Sezzle's businesses may also be adversely affected by malicious third party applications that interfere with, or exploit, security flaws in its websites. Viruses, worms and other malicious software programs could, among other things, jeopardise the security of information stored in a user's computer or in Zip or Sezzle's computer systems or attempt to change the internet experience of users by interfering with Zip or Sezzle's ability to connect with its users.

If Zip, Sezzle and consequently the Combined Business is unable to combat these malicious applications, or if their products and services have actual or perceived vulnerabilities, then each of their business reputation and brand name may be harmed and user traffic could decline, which may result in a material adverse effect on the Combined Business's operations and, financial performance and/or financial position.

1. Proposed Transaction specific risks

As described more fully below, under current law, Zip is not expected to be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a result of the Proposed Transaction. A corporation is generally considered a tax resident in the jurisdiction of its organisation or incorporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Because Zip will be an Australia incorporated entity, it would generally be classified as a non-U.S. corporation (and, therefore, a non-U.S. tax resident) under the applicable rules. However, Section 7874 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code) provides an exception under which a non-U.S. incorporated entity may, in certain circumstances, be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

The percentage (by vote and value) of Zip ordinary shares considered held for purposes of Section 7874 of the Code by former shareholders of an acquired U.S. corporation (e.g., Sezzle) immediately after the Proposed Transaction by reason of holding stock of an acquired U.S. corporation (e.g., Sezzle common stock) is referred to as the "Section 7874 percentage."

Under Section 7874 of the Code, if the Section 7874 percentage is 80% or more, and certain other circumstances exist, Zip will be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If Zip were to be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes, it would be subject to U.S. corporate income tax on its worldwide income, and the income of its non-U.S. subsidiaries would generally be subject to U.S. tax when deemed recognised under the U.S. tax rules for controlled foreign subsidiaries, including as a result of such subsidiaries having any investments in certain U.S. property such as stock or debt obligations of U.S. affiliates. In such case, Zip would be subject to substantially greater U.S. tax liability than currently contemplated. Additionally, any transactions undertaken by Zip or Sezzle to integrate their combined operations might give rise to U.S. taxable gain. Moreover, in such case, a non-U.S. shareholder of Zip would be subject to U.S. withholding tax on the gross amount of any dividends paid by Zip to such shareholder (subject to an exemption or reduced rate available under an applicable tax treaty).

The determination of the Section 7874 percentage is subject to various adjustments under the Code and the U.S. Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder. These U.S. Treasury Regulations, among other things, disregard, for purposes of determining the Section 7874 percentage, certain non-ordinary course distributions made by Zip during the 36 months preceding the Proposed Transaction, including ordinary course dividends and share repurchases.

1.12. Section 7874 of the Code

In addition, for purposes of Section 7874 of the Code, multiple acquisitions of U.S. corporations by a non-U.S. corporation, if treated as part of a plan or series of related transactions, may be treated as a single acquisition. If multiple acquisitions of U.S. corporations are treated as a single acquisition, all shareholders of the acquired U.S. corporations would be aggregated for purposes of determining the Section 7874 percentage. As a result, even if the Section 7874 percentage was less than 80% in the Proposed Transaction, the United States Internal Revenue Service (the IRS) may assert that the Proposed Transaction should be integrated with one or more of such transactions and treated as a single transaction. Each of Zip and Sezzle believes that the Proposed Transaction is a separate transaction from any such prior transactions and should not be integrated with one or more of such transactions. However, there can be no assurance that the IRS will agree with that position and, in the event that the IRS were to prevail with an assertion that the Proposed Transaction should be integrated with more than one such prior transaction, Zip could be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal tax purposes.

Further, if the Section 7874 percentage were determined to be at least 60% (but less than 80%), and certain other circumstances exist, Section 7874 of the Code would cause Zip to be treated as a "surrogate foreign corporation," which could erode some of the synergies expected from the Proposed Transaction during the 10-year period following the closing of the Proposed Transaction. Zip could be prohibited from using its foreign tax credits, net operating losses or other attributes to offset the income or gain recognized by reason of the transfer of property to a foreign related person or any income received or accrued by reason of a license of any property by Zip to a foreign related person. Additionally, these rules may limit Zip's ability to integrate certain non-U.S. operations or access cash earned by certain non-U.S. subsidiaries, in each case without incurring substantial U.S. tax liabilities.

Based on the rules for determining share ownership under Section 7874 of the Code, the U.S. Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder, and certain factual assumptions, after the Proposed Transaction, the Section 7874 percentage is expected to be less than 60%. Therefore, under current law, Zip is not expected to be treated as a U.S. corporation or as a surrogate foreign corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a result of the Proposed Transaction. However, as noted above, determining the Section 7874 percentage is complex and is subject to factual and legal uncertainties. Thus, there can be no assurance that the IRS will agree with the position that Zip should not be treated as a U.S. corporation or a surrogate foreign corporation.

Zip may terminate the merger agreement if it has not received an opinion from a nationally recognized tax advisor reasonably satisfactory to Zip as of the closing date concluding that Zip should not be treated as a surrogate foreign corporation for United States federal income tax purposes under Section 7874(a)(2)(B) of the Code or as a domestic corporation for United States federal income tax purposes by reason of Section 7874(b) of the Code as a result of the Proposed Transactions.

1. Proposed Transaction specific risks

It is expected that the Proposed Transaction will qualify as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code and that Section 367(a) of the Code may apply to the exchange of Sezzle shares for Zip ordinary shares or Zip ADRs by U.S. holders in the Proposed Transaction.

With respect to cross-border reorganizations, Section 367(a) of the Code and U.S. Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder generally require U.S. holders to recognize gain (but not loss) if stock of a U.S. corporation is exchanged for stock of a non-U.S. corporation, by treating a non-U.S. corporation as other than a corporation, unless certain conditions are met. One of those conditions is that the non-U.S. corporation be engaged in an “active trade or business.” This test requires, among other things, that the fair market value of the non-U.S. corporation is at least equal to the fair market value of the U.S. corporation, after making certain adjustments. These adjustments include deducting from the fair market value of the non-U.S. corporation the value of assets acquired outside of the ordinary course of business that product or are held for the production of passive income, assets acquired from the U.S. corporation, and stock of certain subsidiaries. The determination of whether Zip conducts an “active trade or business” is a fact-intensive determination applying principles and methodologies that are in some circumstances unclear. Whether Zip will satisfy the “active trade or business” test at the time of the closing of the Proposed Transaction is uncertain because, among other things, (i) Zip currently owns a substantial amount of passive assets, including cash, (ii) the valuation of Zip’s assets that generate non-passive income for purposes of this test, including intangible assets, is uncertain and may depend in part on the market prices of Zip’s ordinary shares and Sezzle’s shares at the timing of closing, which may fluctuate substantially, and (iii) the composition of Zip’s income may vary substantially over time.

It is anticipated that the Proposed Transaction should satisfy these conditions, although no assurances can be made in this regard. If Sezzle does not obtain a written opinion of a nationally recognized tax advisor that, as of the closing of the Proposed Transaction, the Proposed Transaction will qualify as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code and in respect of the Proposed Transaction, Zip should be treated as a corporation under Section 367(a) of the Code with respect to each transfer of property thereto in connection with the Proposed Transaction (other than a transfer by a shareholder that is a U.S. person and that holds five percent or more of Zip (within the meaning of U.S. Treasury Regulation Section 1.367(a)-3(b)(1)(i)) immediately following the Proposed Transaction), then Zip shall take such action as is reasonably necessary to cause the Proposed Transaction to be taxable for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

If the Proposed Transaction is taxable for U.S. federal income tax purposes, U.S. holders of Sezzle shares generally will recognize gain or loss on their exchange of Sezzle shares for Zip ordinary shares or ADRs in the Proposed Transaction, in an amount equal to the excess of the fair market value of the Zip ordinary shares or ADRs received over the adjusted tax basis of the Sezzle shares exchanged therefor. Such gain or loss must be determined separately for separate blocks of Sezzle shares (i.e., shares acquired at different times or prices). Any such gain or loss would generally be capital gain or loss, and generally would be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. holder’s holding period for the Sezzle shares exceeds one year at the time of the closing of the Proposed Transaction. Preferential tax rates may apply to long-term capital gain of a U.S. holder that is an individual, estate, or trust. There are no preferential tax rates for long-term capital gain of a U.S. holder that is a corporation. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations. The adjusted tax basis in the Zip ordinary shares or ADRs received would be equal to the adjusted tax basis of the Sezzle shares exchanged therefor, increased by the amount of gain recognized in such exchange, if any.

The foregoing summary of potential U.S. federal income tax considerations of the Proposed Transaction addresses only holders who hold their Sezzle shares as capital assets within the meaning of the Code (generally, property held for investment) and does not address all of the tax considerations that may be relevant to holders in light of their particular circumstances or to certain types of holders subject to special treatment under the Code, including, without limitation, holders who will hold (directly, indirectly, or constructively) five percent or more of either the total voting power or the total value of the stock of Zip immediately following the Proposed Transaction.

This discussion is not intended as tax advice. Sezzle shareholders are urged to consult their tax advisors to determine the applicable U.S. federal, state, local and non-U.S. tax consequences, including any non-income tax consequences, to them of exchanging Sezzle shares for Zip ordinary shares or Zip ADRs pursuant to the Proposed Transaction in light of their particular circumstances.

1.13. U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations to U.S. Holders of Sezzle Shares

Key risks (cont'd)

2. Zip risks, including post completion

Post completion of the Proposed Transaction, Zip will operate in a number of new jurisdictions including India and Germany, in addition to its existing jurisdictions, each with differing legal and regulatory requirements. Zip will be subject to additional legal, regulatory, tax, licensing, and compliance requirements in respect of such new jurisdictions that may be materially different from the requirements in the jurisdictions in which Zip now operates, and a failure to comply with such local compliance obligations could result in a regulator commencing an investigation of Zip or taking enforceable actions, commencing proceedings, and/or seeking fines, undertakings, penalties, or licence revocation.

After completion of the Proposed Transaction, the legal, regulatory, tax, licensing, and compliance requirements in new jurisdictions may impose stricter or more onerous requirements than those which Zip is currently familiar with and implementing them may disrupt its business or cause it to incur significantly more costs to comply with such laws. Zip will also have significantly increased presence and footprint in a number of jurisdictions in which it currently operates, including the United States and Canada. Zip will be subject to the relevant legal, regulatory, tax, licensing, and compliance requirements in respect of such jurisdictions, and a failure to comply with such local compliance obligations could result in a regulator investigating Zip or taking enforceable actions, commencing proceedings, and/or seeking fines, undertakings, penalties, or licence revocation.

Additionally, there has been an increased supervisory, regulatory and enforcement focus on compliance with anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing laws (AML/CTF Laws). Ineffective implementation, monitoring or remediation of the Combined Business's policies, systems and controls in place designed to manage its obligations under AML/CTF laws could give rise to future compliance issues. Any such issues could lead to regulatory investigations, reviews, enforcement action, as well as potential litigation by third parties and adverse media coverage.

2.1. Legal and regulatory

Regulators across the globe have been showing a growing interest in the BNPL industry and there has been increased scrutiny of industry participants' compliance with regulatory requirements. Consequently, there is a risk that new or modified laws or regulations or regulatory guidance will be introduced which may impose significant compliance costs, or even make it uneconomic for the Combined Business to continue to operate in its current markets. Any regulatory changes may adversely affect the Combined Business's business and operations by negatively impacting its operations, financial performance and/or financial position. Additionally, the imposition of new compliance obligations that the Combined Business fails to comply with may result in administrative or enforcement action. In addition, existing laws or regulations may be subject to differing or new interpretations by regulators and others over time. Furthermore, changes in the various regulatory regimes in the future, including without limitation any potential requirement for BNPL entities to provide retrospective compensation for customers such as those being considered under investigations of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau in the United States and Financial Conduct Authority in the United Kingdom, may also impact the Combined Business's ability to effectively manage growth, sustain their current growth rate and maintain their market share as a Combined Business.

Other legal or regulatory risks include changes in privacy, consumer or credit laws. Such risks could increase compliance costs and affect Zip's reputation in the market. Zip may also be subject to disputes, claims or litigation including in relation to either Zip or Sezzle's intellectual property, contractual and employment disputes, and Sezzle's ability to achieve its public benefit purpose and maintain its B Corporation certification.

With increasing awareness and consumer acceptance of BNPL products, a number of new entrants are joining the established players in the BNPL sector. Established players from offshore may also enter the market, who may attempt to take market share through discounting merchant service fees or financially incentivising local retailers. The significant numbers of existing players and new entrants into the BNPL sector, including and not limited to large financial institutions and other technology players such as including Shopify, PayPal, Block and Apple (among many others), may have a significant impact on the competitiveness of the Combined Business and may adversely impact the ability of the Combined Business to achieve growth and maintain its margins.

2.2 Competition

With increased competition in the BNPL industry there is a risk that the Combined Business's technology may be superseded by other technology or changes in business practices or that current or future competitors can develop technologies that would allow them to offer products at a cost or quality that gives them a significant advantage over the Combined Business's products. Additionally, current and future competitors may have greater scale and resources, including access to capital, than the Combined Business. While the Combined Business may not be successful in offering services and systems that remain current with the continuing changes in technology, evolving industry standards and changing customer preference, whether in a timely manner or not, or expenses may be greater than expected. This may materially and adversely impact the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position.

Key risks (cont'd)

2. Zip risks, including post completion

2.3. Loss of key contracts and relationships

The continued success of the Combined Business relies on each of Sezzle and Zip retaining their key contracts including their third party merchant partners. There is no guarantee that the key contracts and partnerships will continue after the Proposed Transaction and if they do continue, that they will be successful. For example, there is a risk that specific merchants may seek to terminate their agreements with Sezzle as a result of a change of control or for convenience following completion of the Proposed Transaction. There is also a risk Sezzle and Zip will be unable to increase their merchant network, base of consumers and underlying merchant sales following completion of the Proposed Transaction. Any loss of key merchants or contracts as a result of the Proposed Transaction may result in a material adverse impact to the operations, financial performance and/or financial position of the Combined Business.

2.4. Additional requirements for capital and funding and existing funding facilities

Access to capital and funding is a fundamental requirement for the success of Zip's business. The Proposed Transaction may result in unforeseen requirements for additional capital to maintain the business of the Combined Business, including as required to achieve the targeted synergies. The Combined Business may not be able to secure financing on favourable terms, or at all, to meet its future capital needs, and therefore additional capital raisings that could dilute the capital of Zip or additional debt facilities may be required. Any existing and future debt financing may contain covenants that impact the operation of the Combined Business's business and pursuit of business opportunities. Zip's ability to conduct a capital raising in the future will depend on the market conditions at the time and any further volatility in the share market or a significant fall in the price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs increase the risk that Zip may not be able to raise sufficient capital (or at all).

Zip and Sezzle each have various financing arrangements in place in Australia and overseas, including various warehouse facilities to support the funding of purchases by customers. The terms of these facilities and future instruments governing the Combined Business debt may contain covenants which impose significant operating and financial restrictions on the Combined Business. Such covenants could limit the Combined Business's ability to finance its future operations and capital needs and the Combined Business's ability to pursue business opportunities and activities that may be in its interest. Additionally, if repayments are not made under these warehouse facilities, or certain terms and conditions are not satisfied, it could result in an event of default or other adverse change under these facilities and Zip's and Sezzle's lenders may be entitled to various rights and remedies adverse to Zip and Sezzle, including increased interests payments, the right to impose restrictions on Zip and Sezzle's ability to use the respective facility and/or to terminate their respective funding arrangements. Zip and/or Sezzle may breach the conditions of their financing arrangements either before on or after completion of the Proposed Transaction, which would require Zip and/or Sezzle to seek waivers from the relevant obligations. In these circumstances, Zip and/or Sezzle's capacity to pay their merchants and other creditors may be diminished if they or the Combined Business is unable to obtain such waiver or secure additional funding on the same or other acceptable terms. If the Proposed Transaction completes, Zip will be exposed to Sezzle's existing financing facilities with third party banks and may not be able to receive relevant waivers required under these facilities, which could result in an event of default (or other adverse change under these facilities) and have a material adverse effect on Zip. Additionally, there is no guarantee that the existing merchant funding facilities will remain viable in the future and there is a risk that Zip will be unable to exit or obtain future asset funding facilities after integration with the Sezzle business. This could result in damage to the Combined Business's brand, growth, and ability to fund its business.

Additionally, there are a variety of funding risks inherent in Zip's and Sezzle's financing sources which are particularly heightened in the current economic environment. A dispute, or a breakdown in the relationship, between Zip and/or Sezzle and their respective financiers, a failure to reach a suitable arrangement with a particular financier, or the failure of a financier to pay or otherwise satisfy its contractual obligations (including as a result of insolvency, financial stress or the impacts of COVID-19), could have an adverse effect on the reputation and/or the financial performance of Zip, Sezzle and the Combined Business. The loss of financing or an adverse impact on Zip's or Sezzle's financing as a consequence of the Combined Business or other external factors could have a material impact on Zip's business, operating and financial performance. For the avoidance of doubt, Zip may be exposed to the above risks before completion of the Proposed Transaction and irrespective of completion of the Proposed Transaction.

2.5. Loss of key management personnel

The success and performance of the Combined Business relies on the effectiveness, talent and experience of key management personnel. The proposed management team that will remain after the Proposed Transaction are highly experienced and have significant knowledge, talent and experience in executing growth strategies in the BNPL industry. The loss of any key personnel including senior management such as the founders and early stage employees across Zip or Sezzle, could cause disruption to the conduct of the Combined Business's business in the short term and may have a material adverse impact on the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position. It may be difficult to replace key personnel, or to do so in a timely manner or at comparable expense.

Key risks (cont'd)

2. Zip risks, including post completion

2.6. Reputational damage

The Combined Business will rely heavily on its reputation to retain and increase its customer base, merchant partnerships and relationships after the Proposed Transaction. Maintaining Zip's and Sezzle's reputations in the future as the Combined Business will be part of the Combined Business's business strategy. However, there is no guarantee that the Proposed Transaction will have a positive impact on the reputation of the Combined Business.

If the Combined Business's reputation is diminished by the Proposed Transaction, including as a result of the provision of services or integration of Zip and Sezzle (including via any brand unification), customers, consumers, merchants, technology partners or other parties may cease to do business with the Combined Business, which may adversely affect Zip's or Sezzle's ability to offer its respective services, which may materially impact the Combined Business's operations, financial position and/or financial performance.

2.7. Technology outages

As an online provider of financial services, the Combined Business will be heavily reliant on the availability of communications networks and cloud services providers. Outages have the potential to prevent both customer acquisition, payment processing and the day-to-day operation of the Combined Business's platforms. Extended outages may damage consumer confidence in the brand. Capacity constraints arising as a result of the Combined Business's reliance on communications networks and cloud services providers may hinder the Combined Business's ability to increase transaction volumes, which could adversely affect the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position.

2.8. Macroeconomic conditions, including COVID-19

Adverse macroeconomic conditions could have an impact on the retail sector and consumers' willingness to be exposed to debt, leading to lower demand for BNPL products which could adversely affect the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position. Sustained periods of economic downturn leading to increased unemployment, higher cost of living and increased interest rates may impact customers' ability to repay debt, leading to lower demand, which could adversely affect the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position.

The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic has had a significant impact on the global economy and the ability of individuals, businesses, and governments to operate. There continues to be considerable uncertainty as to the duration of and further impact of COVID-19 and related variants, including in relation to government, regulatory or health authority actions, work stoppages, lockdowns, quarantines and travel restrictions and the impact on the Australian, United States and global economy and share markets. The COVID-19 pandemic and related containment measures, as well as other macroeconomic events, including central bank policies to curb inflation and future government actions, may have an impact on end customers' abilities to repay debt and therefore cause Zip's business to be overly exposed to bad debts. There is also a possibility that the Combined Business will experience higher losses in future periods and there is a risk that the current provision for loan losses could be understated. The COVID-19 pandemic and general uncertainty in the market may also have an impact on customer purchasing appetite which could have an adverse impact on the Combined Business's financial performance / financial position, operations and success as both the Zip and Sezzle businesses rely on the use of BNPL products by consumers.

The earnings and operations of the Combined Business will also rely heavily on whether end customers repay the purchase value of products through the BNPL service. The non-payment of customers is a significant component of Zip's expenses and will likely be a major component of the expenses of the Combined Business. Although exposure to this type of bad debt is part of Zip and Sezzle's day to day business, there is a risk that excessive exposure to bad debts through end customers failing to meet their repayments after the Proposed Transaction will materially and adversely impact the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position.

Overall, Zip's financial performance, financial position and the price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs may fluctuate due to various factors, including movements in domestic and international capital markets, recommendations by brokers and analysts, investor perceptions, interest and exchange rates, changes in government, inflation, fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies, prices of commodities, global geopolitical events (including the recent events involving Russia and Ukraine, which appear to have had a significant impact on financial markets causing general uncertainty in the market), hostilities and acts of terrorism, and other factors. These factors may also affect Zip's income and expenses.

Key risks (cont'd)

2. Zip risks, including post completion

2.9. Global markets and foreign exchange risk

As a result of the Proposed Transaction, Zip is further increasing its concentration in the United States and therefore Zip will be further exposed to the performance of the United States' domestic economy as well as global macroeconomic conditions. Zip will also become more exposed to fluctuations in the value of the United States dollar, as well as other global currencies, than it was prior to the Proposed Transaction. In cases where the Combined Business's debt or other obligations are in currencies different than the currency in which the Combined Business earns revenue, the Combined Business may face higher costs to service those debts, which could impact on its operations, financial performance and/or financial position. Fluctuations in the exchange rates, may also decrease the expected contributions made by Sezzle to Zip's earnings, resulting in an adverse impact on the Combined Business's operations, financial performance and/or financial position.

2.10. Data and cyber security

The cyber threat to companies around the world is growing and unrelenting. Zip and Sezzle are online businesses that are not immune to these risks. A cyberattack or hack of Zip or Sezzle's systems, including those of third party providers of information technology services to Zip and Sezzle, could have serious impacts on Zip's reputation, operational and financial performance.

Both Zip and Sezzle collect personal, financial and credit related information on its customers. Data or security breaches may compromise the Combined Business's ability to protect customer data, which could result in breaches of privacy laws and may damage Zip, Sezzle and consequently the Combined Business's brand, reputation and consumer confidence. Further, laws relating to data privacy are evolving across all jurisdictions and any changes to standards may adversely impact the Combined Business's systems and operating procedures.

Both Zip and Sezzle's businesses may also be adversely affected by malicious third party applications that interfere with, or exploit, security flaws in its websites. Viruses, worms and other malicious software programs could, among other things, jeopardise the security of information stored in a user's computer or in Zip or Sezzle's computer systems or those of third party service providers or attempt to change the internet experience of users by interfering with Zip or Sezzle's ability to connect with its users.

If Zip, Sezzle and consequently the Combined Business is unable to combat these malicious applications, or if their products and services have actual or perceived vulnerabilities, then each of their business reputation and brand name may be harmed and user traffic could decline, which may result in a material adverse effect on the Combined Business's operations and financial performance and/or financial position.

2.11. Intellectual property and trademark risks

The Zip and Sezzle business depends, in part, on their ability to commercially exploit their respective technology and intellectual property, including their technological systems and data processing algorithms. Zip and Sezzle rely on laws relating to trade secrets, copyright and trademarks to assist in protecting their respective proprietary rights. However, there is a risk that unauthorised use or copying of Zip or Sezzle's software, data, specialised technology or platforms will occur. In addition, there is a risk that the validity, ownership or authorised use of intellectual property relevant to Zip or Sezzle's business may be successfully challenged by third parties. This could involve significant expense and potentially the inability to use the intellectual property in question, and if an alternative cost-effective solution is not available, it may materially adversely impact the Combined Business's financial position and performance.

2.12. Change in risk and investment profile

After completion of the Proposed Transaction, Zip shareholders will be exposed to greater risk factors due to the Proposed Transaction depending on the success of integration of Sezzle. Whilst there are similarities in the nature of Zip and Sezzle's business, the portfolio of merchant clients and customers, the countries of operation and exposure to those countries, the market position, the change in capital structure and the increased size of the Combined Business will be different to Zip's current profile.

Key risks (cont'd)

2. Zip risks post completion

2.13. Reliance on third party partners and brand reputation

Zip and Sezzle's business models rely on third party partners over which they have limited control to originate customers. The conduct, standing and product offerings of such partners has the potential to negatively affect Zip and Sezzle's brand and reputation. If these third party partners' systems or operations fail or if the third party is otherwise unable to perform its origination function, Zip may be unable to complete customer transactions. In addition, if these third party partners are unable to perform to Zip's standards or Zip is unable to renegotiate agreements with these third party partners on attractive terms or at all, or if Zip is unable to contract with alternative third-party providers, Zip's business, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed and Zip may be forced to pursue alternatives, which could result in delays, interruptions, additional expenses and loss of potential and existing customers and related revenues.

How consumers transact with Zip's third party partners is also affected by changes in general economic conditions. For example, the retail sector is affected by macroeconomic conditions such as unemployment, interest rates, consumer confidence, disposable income, overall consumer sentiment, economic recession, downturn or extended periods of uncertainty or volatility, all of which may influence customer spending and suppliers' and retailers' focus and investment in outsourcing payment and transaction processing solutions. This may subsequently impact Zip's ability to generate revenue, its operations, financial performance and/or financial position and prospects.

2.14. Acquisition, integration and growth

Zip's growth strategy following the Proposed Transaction may continue to involve the acquisition of additional businesses. Therefore, if the Proposed Transaction is consummated, Zip may continue to seek out opportunities to expand in the BNPL industry. Zip's ability to grow and expand depends on its ability to attract additional end customers and merchants as well as seek out attractive investment opportunities, conduct appropriate diligence, negotiate transactions on favorable terms and ultimately complete such transactions and integrate acquired businesses. We may not complete future acquisitions at all, or on the terms contemplated, for regulatory or other reasons. These growth strategies also involve inherent risks, including risks around implementation and integration. By expanding into the BNPL industry, Zip will increase its exposure to the BNPL industry related risks set out above.

Key risks (cont'd)

3. General risks

3.1. Insurance

Zip considers it maintains insurance customary for businesses of its size and type. Not all risks are insured or insurable and Zip cannot be certain that its current insurance is adequate or that adequate insurance coverage for potential losses and liabilities will be available in the future on commercially reasonable terms. If the Combined Business experiences a loss in the future, the proceeds of the applicable insurance policies, if any, may not be adequate to cover replacement costs, lost revenues, increased expenses or liabilities to third parties. Additionally, Zip's current insurance policies may not cover newly acquired assets or businesses (including Sezzle) and/or such acquisition may involve a substantial increase in premium to achieve coverage. These risks may have a materially adverse effect on Zip's operations, financial position and/or financial performance.

3.2. Litigation and disputes

Zip is subject to various litigation matters from time to time, the outcome of which could have a material adverse effect on its operations, financial performance and/or financial position. In the ordinary course of business, the Combined Business may also be involved in possible disputes that could give rise to litigation. While the extent of any disputes and litigation against the Combined Business cannot be ascertained at this time, any dispute or litigation may be costly and may adversely affect the operational and financial results of Zip. There is also a risk that the Combined Business, Sezzle or Zip's reputation may suffer due to the profile and public scrutiny surrounding any such litigation and disputes regardless of their outcome.

3.3. Changes in tax rules or their interpretation

Changes in tax law, or changes in the way tax laws are interpreted may impact the tax liabilities of Zip, Sezzle and the Combined Business, shareholder returns, or the tax treatment of an investment. In particular, both the level and basis of taxation may change. Tax law is frequently being changed, both prospectively and retrospectively. Any actual or alleged failure to comply with, or any change in the application or interpretation of tax rules applied in respect of such transactions, may increase the Combined Business's tax liabilities or expose it to legal, regulatory or other actions.

3.4. Force majeure

In addition to the COVID-19 pandemic risks, events may occur within or outside Australia that could have an adverse effect on the global economies and the price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs. The events include hostilities (including the recent events involving Russia and Ukraine, which appear to have had a significant impact on financial markets causing general uncertainty in the market), acts of terrorism, civil wars, labour strikes, natural disasters or other man-made disasters.

Key risks (cont'd)

4. Capital raising specific risks

4.1 Investment in equity capital

Investment in equity capital and stock markets attract general risks. For example, as set out in the risks above, the price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs may fluctuate in line with broader market movements or in response to specific circumstances that are out of Zip's control. As a consequence, the market price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs may be higher or lower than the issue price of the Placement Shares and SPP Shares. As set out in the key risk above "Market value of the consideration", there are a number of factors that may affect the market price of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs. There is also considerable uncertainty as to the ongoing impact of COVID 19 on the Australian, US, European and global economy, increasing regulatory interest in the BNPL sector and the recent events involving Russia and Ukraine. Equity capital markets have historically been, and may in the future be, subject to significant volatility and no assurance can be given that the Placement Shares and SPP Shares will trade at or above the price at which they are issued.

Further, any subscription for Placement Shares or SPP Shares under the Capital Raising is not conditional on the Proposed Transaction completing, and there is a risk that the Proposed Transaction may not be completed in a timely manner or at all. Investors that participate in the Capital Raising, accept the risk that the Proposed Transaction may not complete. Any application submitted in connection with the Placement or SPP is unconditional and may not be withdrawn even if the Proposed Transaction does not complete. In addition, there are numerous risks associated with the Proposed Transaction, and Zip shareholders are referred to a summary of certain key risks associated with the Proposed Transaction as set out above.

4.2 Allocation risk for Placement Shares and SPP Shares

Zip will allocate Placement Shares to eligible institutional investors on a best endeavours basis. For this purpose, an eligible institutional investor's existing holding will be estimated by reference to Zip's beneficial register as at the date of the register which is not necessarily fully up to date. No verification or reconciliation of the holdings as shown on the historical beneficial register will be undertaken and accordingly, this may not truly reflect a participant's actual shareholding. Further, institutional shareholders who do not reside in Australia or other eligible jurisdictions will not be able to participate in the Placement and such shareholders may have their shareholding diluted as a consequence of the Placement.

In relation to the SPP, if Zip receives applications that exceed the amount it proposes to raise under the SPP, Zip may decide to scale back applications or raise a higher amount, in its absolute discretion. If a scale back is applied, this means that an eligible shareholder may be allocated fewer Zip shares than they apply for under the SPP.

4.3 Dilution risk

Existing shareholders who do not participate in the Capital Raising will have their percentage shareholding in Zip diluted. Depending on the size of a shareholder's existing holding, a participating shareholder may still be diluted even though they participate in the Placement or the SPP, depending on the number of Placement Shares and SPP Shares allocated to them respectively.

4.4 Underwriting risk

Zip has entered into an underwriting agreement with Merrill Lynch Equities (Australia) Limited (ABN 65 006 276 795) and Jarden Australia Pty Limited (together, Underwriters) in respect of the Placement, a summary of which is set in Appendix C of this Presentation (Underwriting Agreement). If certain conditions are not satisfied, or certain events occur, the Underwriters may terminate the Underwriting Agreement. Termination of the Underwriting Agreement will have a material adverse impact on the ability of Zip to proceed with the Capital Raising and the quantum of funds raised as part of the Capital Raising. If the Underwriting Agreement is terminated by the Underwriters, there is no guarantee that the Capital Raising will continue in its current form or at all. Failure to raise sufficient funds under the Capital Raising (as a result of it not proceeding or otherwise) could materially adversely affect Zip's business, cash flow, financial performance, financial condition and share price. Additionally, as noted above, the success of the Proposed Transaction will depend, in part, on Zip's ability to successfully combine the businesses of Zip and Sezzle, which currently operate as independent companies, including realising the targeted synergies, cost savings and operational efficiencies from the combination. However, Zip's ability to realise the benefits is dependent, in part, on Zip having sufficient capital and other resources to complete the integration in the manner and time period contemplated. Accordingly, failure to raise sufficient funds under the Capital Raising (as a result of it not proceeding or otherwise) could materially adversely affect Zip's business, cash flow, financial performance, financial condition and share price.

4.5 Liquidity risk

Shareholders who wish to sell their Placement Shares and SPP Shares may be unable to do so at an acceptable price, or at all, if insufficient liquidity exists in the market. There is no guarantee of the liquidity of the Placement Shares and/or SPP Shares and there is a risk that shareholders may lose some of the money invested.

The above risks should not be taken as a complete list of the risks associated with an investment in Zip. The risks outlined above and other risks not specifically referred to may in the future materially adversely affect the value of Zip securities and their performance. Accordingly, no assurance or guarantee of future performance or profitability is given by Zip and the Combined Business in respect of Zip's shares and Zip's ADRs.

Appendix C:

Summary of Underwriting Agreement

Underwriting Agreement Summary

- p) any regulatory body commences or announces any public action against any director or officer of Zip (in his or her capacity as a director or officer of Zip) or announces that it intends to take any such action or a director or officer of Zip is charged with an indictable offence or is disqualified from managing a corporation under the Corporations Act;
- q) Zip or any of its directors or officers or Zip's chief executive officer or chief financial officer engages in any fraudulent conduct or activity whether or not in connection with the Placement;

- a) could give rise to a material liability of the Underwriter under any law or regulation;
- b) has or may have a material adverse effect on the marketing, settlement or outcome of the Placement or the likely trading price of the shares in Zip; or
- c) has resulted in or may result in a material change in the financial position or performance or prospects of Zip from that which existed at the date the Underwriting Agreement other than as disclosed to ASX prior to the date of the Underwriting Agreement.

If an Underwriter terminates its obligations under the Underwriting Agreement, the other Underwriter may elect, but is not obliged, to take up all of the rights and perform the remaining obligations of the terminating Underwriter, or permit a new underwriter to perform the remaining obligations of the terminating Underwriter subject to the agreement of Zip. If the remaining Underwriter does not elect to take up the rights and obligations of the terminating Underwriter within one business days, they will be deemed to have terminated their obligations under the Underwriting Agreement.

If both Underwriters terminate the Underwriting Agreement, the Underwriters may notify applicants for the shares the subject of the Placement that they have no obligations or rights to subscribe for such shares and any sub-underwriters, co-managers and brokers to the Placement that they have no further obligations or rights to subscribe for the shares the subject of the Placement (if any).

Termination of the Underwriting Agreement by one or both Underwriters could have an adverse impact on the amount of proceeds raised under the Placement.

For details of fees payable to the Underwriters, see the Appendix 3B released to ASX in connection with the Placement.

Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements (Cont'd)

(xx) impact of the costs of complying with various laws and regulations applicable to the BNPL industry in the United States and the international markets in which Sezzle and Zip operate; (xxi) impact of macro-economic conditions on consumer spending; (xxii) slowdowns in securities trading or shifting demand for security trading product; (xxiii) the impact of natural disasters or health epidemics, including the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic; (xxv) legislative or regulatory changes; (xxv) impact of operating in a highly competitive industry; (xxvi) reliance on third party service providers; (xxvii) impact of a potential loss of Sezzle's or Zip's key partners and merchant relationships; (xxviii) competition in retaining key employees; (xxix) Sezzle's and Zip's reliance on new products and establishment and maintenance of its brand; (xxx) risks related to data security and privacy, including the impact of any data security breaches, cyberattacks, employee or other internal misconduct, malware, phishing or ransomware, physical security breaches, natural disasters, or similar disruptions; (xxxi) changes to accounting principles and guidelines; (xxxii) potential litigation relating to the Proposed Transaction that could be instituted against Sezzle, Zip or their respective directors and officers, including the effects of any outcomes related thereto; (xxxiii) the outcome of any legal proceedings that may be instituted against Zip or against Sezzle related to the merger agreement or the Proposed Transaction (which may result in significant costs of defense, indemnification and liability); (xxxiv) the price of Sezzle's or Zip's securities may be volatile due to a variety of factors; (xxxv) the ability to implement business plans, forecasts, and other expectations after the completion of the Proposed Transaction, and identify and realize additional opportunities; (xxxvi) unexpected costs, charges or expenses resulting from the Proposed Transaction; (xxxvii) the possibility that competing offers or acquisition proposals for Sezzle or Zip will be made, which could result in termination of the merger agreement; (xxxiii) the risk that Zip shareholders do not approve the Proposed Transaction; and (xxxix) Zip's ability to realise the potential synergies contemplated by the Proposed Transaction and integrate the business of Sezzle. The risks and uncertainties may be amplified by the COVID-19 pandemic (and related variants), which has caused significant economic uncertainty. The extent to which the COVID-19 pandemic (and related variants) impacts Zip's or Sezzle's businesses, operations, and financial results, including the duration and magnitude of such effects, will depend on numerous factors, which are unpredictable, including, but not limited to, the duration and spread of the outbreak, its severity, the actions to contain the virus or treat its impact, and how quickly and to what extent normal economic and operating conditions can resume. The foregoing list of factors is not exhaustive. You should carefully consider the foregoing factors and the other risks and uncertainties described in the "Key Risks" section of this Presentation, Sezzle's registration statement on Form 10 (File No.000-56267) (the "Form 10"), Zip's registration statement on Form F-4 and other documents filed by Zip or Sezzle from time to time with the ASX, the ASIC and/or the SEC. These filings identify and address other important risks and uncertainties that could cause actual events and results to differ materially from those contained in the forward-looking statements.

If any of these risks materialise or Sezzle's and Zip's assumptions prove incorrect, actual events and results could differ materially from those contained in the forward-looking statements. There may be additional risks that Sezzle and Zip presently do not know or that Sezzle and Zip currently believe is immaterial that could also cause actual events and results to differ from those contained in the forward-looking statements. In addition, forward-looking statements reflect Sezzle's and Zip's expectations, plans or forecasts of future events and views as of the date of this Presentation. Sezzle and Zip anticipate that subsequent events and developments will cause Sezzle's and Zip's assessments to change. While Sezzle and Zip may elect to update these forward-looking statements at some point in the future, Sezzle and Zip specifically disclaim any obligation to do so, unless required by applicable law. These forward-looking statements should not be relied upon as representing Sezzle's and Zip's assessment as of any date subsequent to the date of this Presentation. Accordingly, undue reliance should not be placed upon the forward-looking statements. Sezzle and Zip do not give any assurance that either Zip or Sezzle, or the combined company, will achieve the results or other matters set forth in the forward-looking statements.

Solely for convenience, some of the trademarks, service marks, trade names and copyrights referred to in this Presentation may be listed without the TM, SM, © or ® symbols, but the Companies will assert, to the fullest extent under applicable law, the rights of the applicable owners, if any, to these trademarks, service marks, tradenames and copyrights.

Financial and Other Information

The financial information contained in this Presentation has been taken from or prepared based on the historical financial statements of Zip and Sezzle for the periods presented. An audit of certain of these financial statements has not been completed, and the financial statements do not conform to Regulation S-X promulgated under the Securities Act. Accordingly, such financial information and data may not be included in, may be adjusted in or may be presented differently in any registration statement to be filed with the SEC by Zip in connection with the Proposed Transaction.

This Presentation includes certain pro forma financial information. Any such pro forma historical financial information provided in this Presentation is for illustrative purposes only and is not represented as being indicative of Zip's and Sezzle's views on its, nor anyone else's, future financial position and/or performance. Any pro forma historical financial information has been prepared by Zip and Sezzle in accordance with the measurement and recognition principles, but not the disclosure requirements, prescribed by the Australian Accounting Standards. In addition, the pro forma financial information in this Presentation does not purport to be in compliance with Article 11 of Regulation S-X of the rules and regulations of the SEC.

This Presentation includes certain financial measures that have not been prepared in accordance with IFRS or with GAAP (including on a forward-looking basis) such as EBITDA. These non-IFRS and non-GAAP measures are an addition to, and not a substitute for or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with IFRS and GAAP, as applicable, and should not be considered as an alternative to net income, operating income or any other performance measures derived in accordance with IFRS or GAAP. Zip and Sezzle believe that these non-IFRS and non-GAAP measures of financial results (including on a forward-looking basis) provide useful supplemental information to investors about Zip and Sezzle. Zip's and Sezzle's management teams use forward-looking non-IFRS or non-GAAP measures to evaluate their projected financials and operating performance. However, there are a number of limitations related to the use of these non-IFRS or non-GAAP measures and their nearest IFRS or GAAP equivalents, as applicable, including that they exclude significant expenses that are required by IFRS or GAAP to be recorded in Zip's and Sezzle's financial measures. In addition, other companies may calculate non-IFRS or non-GAAP measures differently or may use other measures to calculate their financial performance, and therefore, Zip's and Sezzle's non-IFRS and non-GAAP measures may not be directly comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.

Zip and Sezzle are not providing forward-looking IFRS net income or GAAP net income or a reconciliation of expected EBITDA to expected IFRS net income or GAAP net income because, without unreasonable efforts, they are unable to predict with reasonable certainty the non-IFRS and non-GAAP adjustments used to calculate EBITDA. These adjustments are uncertain, depend on various factors and could have a material impact on IFRS or GAAP net income for the future period.

Past performance

Past performance, including past share price performance of Zip and Sezzle and pro forma historical information in this Presentation, is given for illustrative purposes only and cannot be relied upon as an indicator of (and provides no guidance as to) the future performance of Zip or Sezzle, including future share price performance.

International Offer Restrictions (Placement)

This Presentation does not constitute an offer of new ordinary shares under the Placement (Placement Shares) of the Company in any jurisdiction in which it would be unlawful. In particular, this Presentation may not be distributed to any person, and the Placement Shares may not be offered or sold, in any country outside Australia except to the extent permitted below.

This Presentation constitutes an offering of Placement Shares only in the Provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec (the "Provinces"), only to persons to whom Placement Shares may be lawfully distributed in the Provinces, and only by persons permitted to sell such securities. No securities commission or authority in the Provinces has reviewed or in any way passed upon this Presentation, the merits of the Placement Shares or the offering of the Placement Shares and any representation to the contrary is an offence.

No prospectus has been, or will be, filed in the Provinces with respect to the offering of Placement Shares or the resale of such securities. Any person in the Provinces lawfully participating in the offer will not receive the information, legal rights or protections that would be afforded had a prospectus been filed and receipted by the securities regulator in the applicable Province. Furthermore, any resale of the Placement Shares in the Provinces must be made in accordance with applicable Canadian securities laws. While such resale restrictions generally do not apply to a first trade in a security of a foreign, non-Canadian reporting issuer that is made through an exchange or market outside Canada, Canadian purchasers should seek legal advice prior to any resale of the Placement Shares.

The Company as well as its directors and officers may be located outside Canada and, as a result, it may not be possible for purchasers to effect service of process within Canada upon the Company or its directors or officers. All or a substantial portion of the assets of the Company and such persons may be located outside Canada and, as a result, it may not be possible to satisfy a judgment against the Company or such persons in Canada or to enforce a judgment obtained in Canadian courts against the Company or such persons outside Canada.

Any financial information contained in this Presentation has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and also comply with International Financial Reporting Standards and interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board. Unless stated otherwise, all dollar amounts contained in this Presentation are in Australian dollars.

Statutory rights of action for damages and rescission. Securities legislation in certain Provinces may provide a purchaser with remedies for rescission or damages if an offering memorandum contains a misrepresentation, provided the remedies for rescission or damages are exercised by the purchaser within the time limit prescribed by the securities legislation of the purchaser's Province. A purchaser may refer to any applicable provision of the securities legislation of the purchaser's Province for particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser.

Certain Canadian income tax considerations. Prospective purchasers of the Placement Shares should consult their own tax adviser with respect to any taxes payable in connection with the acquisition, holding or disposition of the Placement Shares as there are Canadian tax implications for investors in the Provinces.

Language of documents in Canada. Upon receipt of this Presentation, each investor in Canada hereby confirms that it has expressly requested that all documents evidencing or relating in any way to the sale of the Placement Shares (including for greater certainty any purchase confirmation or any notice) be drawn up in the English language only. Par la réception de ce document, chaque investisseur canadien confirme par les présentes qu'il a expressément exigé que tous les documents faisant foi ou se rapportant de quelque manière que ce soit à la vente des valeurs mobilières décrites aux présentes (incluant, pour plus de certitude, toute confirmation d'achat ou tout avis) soient rédigés en anglais seulement.
